

Nixon's First Press Conference

Paris Talks—'A Good Start'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today the Paris peace talks in Vietnam "are off to a good start" under his new administration.

He said that is the U.S. view, but added: "Now, of course, what is involved is what happens on the other side."

Nixon told his first White House news conference the United States has offered an agenda, "a laundry list," of possible agreements on specific points.

Up to Other Side
"Where we go from here depends on what the other side ofers in turn," Nixon said.

The White House East Room was the setting for Nixon's first question-and-answer session as President.

The initial question: His plans for a legislative program?

"I shall have a major legislative program to present to the Congress this year," Nixon said.

Asked to list problems requiring his most urgent attention, Nixon said that during his first week they have concerned foreign policy.

He said the National Security Council has had two meetings and he has spent hours at night reading foreign policy papers. But he said beyond that, the problems of the cities and economic problems require urgent attention and both have been discussed with the appropriate officials.

Opposes Peking in U. N.
Nixon said he has noted expressions of interest on the possibility of admitting Communist China to the United Nations.

He said his administration will continue to oppose admission.

In the jammed news conference, broadcast live from the White House, Nixon said he favors the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and said the only question is the timing of the ratification of the pact.

He said that question would be discussed in a National Security Council meeting this week and with congressional leaders.

Then, Nixon said, he will make a decision on when the treaty should be approved.

Nixon added he also favors talks with the Soviet Union on reduction of strategic arms, but said the question again was another matter of timing.

Arms reduction itself would not achieve peace, he said, adding talks are needed when they will permit solution of "outstanding" political problems at the same time. He cited the Middle East as an example.

Need for Initiatives
Nixon said there have been suggestions for four-power talks on the Mideast, that the United Nations should be the principal peace-seeking forum, that the United States and the Soviet Union should hold bilateral talks or that the parties concerned should solve it.

He said the whole question will be discussed all day Saturday, but in any case there is a need for new initiatives by the United States.

The Mideast situation could lead to "a confrontation between the nuclear powers," he said, so a solution must urgently be sought. He said he is open to any suggestions.

The news conference came almost exactly one week after Nixon took office as 37th President of the United States.

Nixon said he had examined the budget left for him by his predecessor, President Johnson, but could not say yet where and how the spending schedule could be trimmed.

Fresh Look at Budget
But he said, "We are taking a fresh look" at the budget and would try to make cuts to leave room for new programs advocated in his campaign.

As to the nuclear arms, Nixon said his administration will strive for "sufficiency" rather than superiority which might have a "detrimental effect on the other side." He explained, "I think sufficiency is a better term than either superiority or parity."

Nixon said his concern with halting inflation so far has been in setting up the machinery to deal with the problem.

Against the Guidelines
He rejected the notion that inflation can be controlled by wage and price guidelines, a favored policy of the Johnson administration.

"We will have some new approaches in this area," he added.

On Sunday, President Nixon has added something new to the White House scene — Sunday church services in the executive mansion's East Room.

The presidential family invited cabinet members, other ranking officials and members of the White House staff and their families to services Sunday in the first of what is expected to be a fairly regular event.

Graham Conducts Services
Evangelist Billy Graham, an old friend of Nixon, conducted the services for the more than 225 persons attending and asked God to grant the President and his advisors "a wisdom that is beyond their own" in dealing with the crisis of our time.

Nixon, a Quaker, plans on inviting pastors of different religions to officiate at the services.

White House staff members on all levels will be invited on a rotating basis. Graham is a Baptist.

Although religious ceremonies have been held infrequently in the White House, Nixon said that as far as he knows not until Sunday was a service conducted in the East Room.

That room, with its great crystal chandelier and portraits of the nation's first First Family, Gen. and Mrs. George Washington, has been used for many and varied functions—hanging laundry, concerts, news conference—but until now not for worship.

No Collection Plate
Only one Sunday church feature was missing—the collection plate. Graham noted this and said that the last time he and the President attended church together the collection plate was there but Nixon had forgotten his money.

"I loaned him the biggest bill I had," Graham said, without telling the amount.

California Death Toll Tops 90, Rains Ease

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Southern California's worst siege of rain in more than 30 years eased today, leaving more than 10,000 persons temporarily homeless and a death toll topping 90.

Nine days of constant rain from two back-to-back subtropical storms caused widespread flooding and mudslides as the soggy ground refused to absorb more water.

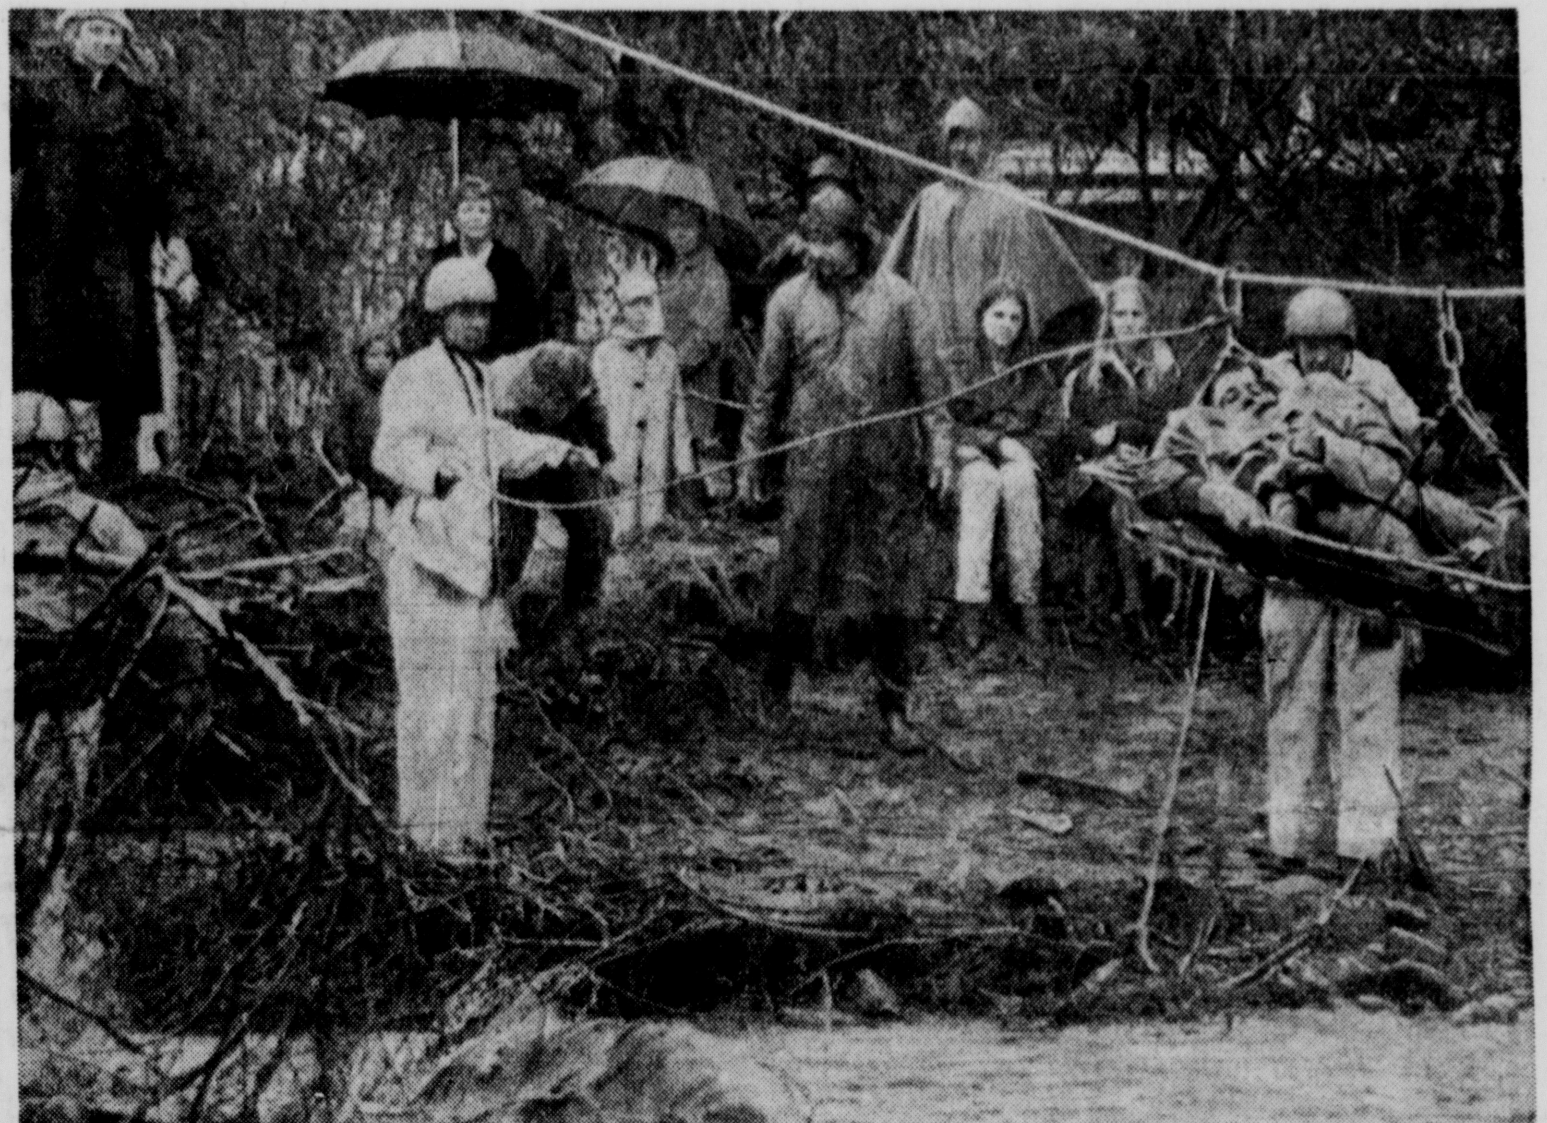

At least 89 persons were killed and damage was estimated at more than $30 million. Twelve persons were buried alive in the mud which oozed down from the hills and into their homes. Fifty-two died in rain-connected highway accidents and four in weather-related airplane crashes. Nineteen drowned and two died of heart attacks, one while filling sandbags to save his home.

Major Disaster Area
President Nixon declared the entire state a major disaster area. The Small Business Administration made low cost federal loans available to those whose homes or businesses were damaged by the torrential rains.

More than 9,000 persons were evacuated, 3,000 of them from homes in the Santa Paula area in Santa Barbara County where the Santa Paula Creek flooded the lowlands.

The U.S. Weather Bureau today promised some easing of the storm. Only scattered showers were forecast through Tuesday. The first storm began Jan. 18 and dropped more than 6.5 inches of water on Los Angeles before ending last Wednesday. The second onslaught hit Southern California a day later and inundated the soggy area with nearly seven more inches of rain. Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino Mountains recorded a total of 37.5 inches.

helped evacuate homes threatened with flood waters, patrolled damaged highways and guarded empty houses against looters.

Story of People
The awesome statistics obscure the real story of the storm—the stories of people: —A dike protecting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shultz in Glendora overflowed. "One or two pictures, that's it. That's all that can be saved," Schultz said. "Insurance? They don't cover mudslides."

—"My babies are in the front room. Save them," screamed Mrs. John Gonzalez from beneath her collapsed house in Highland Park. The two children were found dead. The home was reduced to kindling by a mudslide.
—Three pregnant women being evacuated from the Ojai Valley in Ventura County began having labor pains at a relief center. They were taken to a hospital by helicopter.
—Mrs. William E. Stephens of Montecito was swept into a creek. She was missing for 23 hours, then was found alive clinging to the root of a tree undercut by the water. At one

Two Spectacular County Crashes

THE ACCIDENT AT BLOOMINGTON

By WALTER S. CLARK
A 17-year-old Kingston High School football star was critically injured and a Town of Ulster man was less seriously injured in spectacular traffic accidents that occurred on Sunday.

Quarterback on '68 Team

Michael E. Hoffman, of RD 2, Box 44, Kingston, quarterback on the KHS 1968 football squad, today remained in the intensive care unit at Kingston Hospital where his condition was listed as unchanged. He was injured at 12:10 a. m. yesterday when his car (shown above) careened out of control after hitting a patch of ice on Main Street, Bloomington, and crashed into a tree.

Hoffman was rushed to the hospital by Doctor's Ambulance after being extricated from the damaged car by Troopers R. M.

Molloy and J. H. Ingellis of Kingston, assisted by Town of Rosendale police. Examination showed he suffered a severe basal skull fracture, broken lower jaw and multiple other injuries.

Hoffman apparently was on his way home when the accident occurred 500 feet east of Route 32. According to investigating police, patches of ice had formed on the pavement with the drop in the mercury, causing poor driving conditions.

Hoffman received a top award at the close of the football season for being the most improved back on the KHS team. He also is a well-known basketball player.

In the other spectacular traffic accident, which occurred at 7:30 a. m. Sunday, Lorin Marfilus, 22, of the Sawkill Trailer Park, luckily escaped serious injury when his automobile went out of control on Route 9W in front of Montella's Fruit Farm, and slammed into sign posts and a pole.

Bounced, Dropped, Wedged

Marfilus was traveling south on the highway when the vehicle failed to negotiate a curve and continued on a distance of about 257 feet before it hit the sign posts (shown below). The vehicle bounced in the air and then dropped and became wedged between the posts and a utility pole, with the rear end several feet off the ground.

A report of Trooper C. J. Bebensee, note that Marfilus escaped with a laceration of the left index finger. The driver was cited for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent. (Freeman photos by Anner).

Navy Improved Destruct System AFTER Capture of the Pueblo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says that improved destruction equipment was installed in the sister ships of the USS Pueblo after the intelligence vessel was captured by North Korea just over a year ago.

The acknowledgment came after Pueblo Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry in California last week that he had been denied such equipment on two occasions "because of money and time."

The court of inquiry, which has been taking testimony in the Pueblo case, has generated heated controversy over Bucher's statements that superiors twice rejected his requests for a system for swift destruction of secret intelligence equipment and documents.

BULLETIN

Fatal Near Saugerties

SAUGERTIES — State Police early this afternoon were investigating a fatal traffic accident on the State Thruway about 3½ miles north of the Saugerties interchange.

It was reported that a sport model car smashed into a bridge abutment and disintegrated. At least one person was reported to have been killed in the crash.

Robert S. McNamara implied that the Pueblo's crew was able to accomplish extensive destruction of sensitive equipment and materials before being overwhelmed by the North Koreans.

Testimony given to a House subcommittee last February about Bucher shows that McNamara said:

"I cannot tell you exactly how much destruction he accomplished, but as you go through the message traffic, it is very clear that he accomplished a great deal. Whether he started early enough, again I cannot say. I am not entirely sure of exactly when he started, how much effort he applied to it, and so on."

Asked whether destruct devices on the Pueblo were adequate, McNamara told Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, "I cannot answer that question fully." He added:

"I have asked the technical authorities to examine it. They say they believe so. It is possible that with further technical developments we can design more sophisticated destruct devices."

Today, the court of inquiry has called into closed session an admiral who inspected the USS Pueblo before it steamed for North Korea with what the skipper called inadequate guns.

Before Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson's testimony today, however, Capt. Forrest A. Pease, countermeasures against U.S. intelligence ships before the Pueblo's capture, was summoned to testify behind closed doors.

The Navy court begins its second week of testimony into the capture of the Pueblo and imprisonment of its crew.

Secret testimony is necessary, the Navy says, about information classified in the interest of national defense.

Johnson is commandant of the 13th Naval District in Seattle, Wash. Pease remained in Japan as chief of staff for the commander of U.S. naval forces there.

In unclassified portions of the closed-door testimony Saturday, the Navy said the top intelligence officer at Johnson's headquarters in Japan testified he was not aware of the North Korean threat.

Johnson threatened "determined countermeasures" against U.S. intelligence ships before the Pueblo's capture, was summoned to testify behind closed doors.

The intelligence officer, Capt. Thomas L. Dwyer, said also he didn't know of any effective way to destroy secret material such as the Pueblo carried, then or now, the Navy said.

Freeman Opens It Dutchess Branch

The Kingston Freeman becomes a multi-county newspaper today with the opening of its bureau office in Rhinebeck.

Feeling that its Northern Dutchess County readership, which has been steadily increasing, warranted more complete coverage of that area, The Freeman announced last week that it would open the new bureau, the second within a year.

Last July, the paper inaugurated a new office in New Paltz in order to accommodate readers of the fast-growing Southern Ulster County area.

The Rhinebeck facility, which is located at 38 East Market Street, will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The phone number is 876-2121.

Opening the new office was Freeman reporter Lynn Mulvaney.

Area residents are invited to stop in at the new bureau and inform The Freeman concerning newsworthy events and to leave news concerning the area.

News coverage will include village, town and county governments, schools, hospital, college activity and historical endeavors. Local personalities will also be featured.

SUPERVISORS-LEGISLATORS DINNER — The first annual dinner of the newly-formed Ulster County Supervisors and Legislators Association was held Saturday night at Oehler's Mountain Lodge with 95 attending. Principals at the dinner were (L) Eugene Salaga, president of the New York State Supervisors and Legislators Association, guest speaker; Peter J. Savago, chairman of Ulster County Legislature; Legislator Clarence Raichle, dinner chairman; Sylvester E. Walker, executive secretary of the State Association and Town of Marlboro Supervisor Michael Canosa, treasurer of the County Association. Legislator Raichle served as toastmaster. 6 Hurt, Driver Held After Crash in City

By WALTER S. CLARK
Six persons were injured and a Greene County man was arrested for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, following a three-car collision at 6:18 p.m. Saturday on Albany Avenue at Madison Avenue.

Vehicles involved in the mishap were operated by James R. Craven, 39, of RD, Sheryl Street, Kingston; Hermine G. Keyser, 18, of 326 Albany Avenue and George R. Jutzi Jr., 33, of RD 1, West Cossackie. Jutzi was arrested by Kingston police on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The case was referred to City Court for disposition.

Craven was heading west on Albany Avenue and Miss Keyser was stopped facing east preparing to make a left turn into Madison Avenue, when the eastbound vehicle operated by Jutzi slammed into the rear of the Keyser car, and pushed it into the path of the automobile driven by Craven.

Miss Keyser sustained tongue lacerations and cuts of the chin. She complained of neck pains. Shelia M. Craven, 39, received lacerations of the arm and chest. She was treated at Benedictine Hospital.

Passengers in the Keyser car who were treated at Kingston Hospital were Bruce Anderson, 19, of 50 Madison Avenue, bump on forehead and neck pains; Joseph Costa, 14, of 42 Wittwyck Avenue, head pains; Patricia Costa, 17, same address, bump on the head and Eric Keyser, 14, neck pains.

The vehicle driven by Jutzi was owned by Billings Leasing Corp., of Wilmington, Del., according to police.

Gorman Might Run After All

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Ulster County Democratic chairman, told The Freeman today that he is "seriously reconsidering" his decision not to seek reelection as chairman. Gorman made the announcement (not to run) last week at a Democratic committee meeting at Joyce-Schirick VFW Post 1386 on Delaware Avenue.

Mulls Legislator Candidacy
Gorman also told The Freeman today that he was "very much interested" in running as a county legislator from Kingston. A firm decision is also expected on that before the early March convention of the party to pick candidates to run in November.

Gorman admitted to failure in reaching certain goals for the party when he was elected chairman in a three-way race in July of 1967. In that election Gorman received 90 votes against 51 for then chairman Aaron E. Klein, city corporation counsel and James McCordle, now state committeeman who received 22 votes.

"I thought we could bring more people into the party and head it in a new direction," Gorman said today. "We wanted a more responsible two-party system."

"Patient No Better"
"On a county level," Gorman continued, "I can't see where I have accomplished any significant change. The patient isn't getting any better. In that case you call in another doctor."

Gorman spoke of a "new head, a new image" for the party, tempered that with a concern for the "reopening of old wounds in the party" (in the event of an election to fill his position.)

Gorman, a surgeon by profession, opened offices in Kingston in 1959 and subsequently entered local politics.

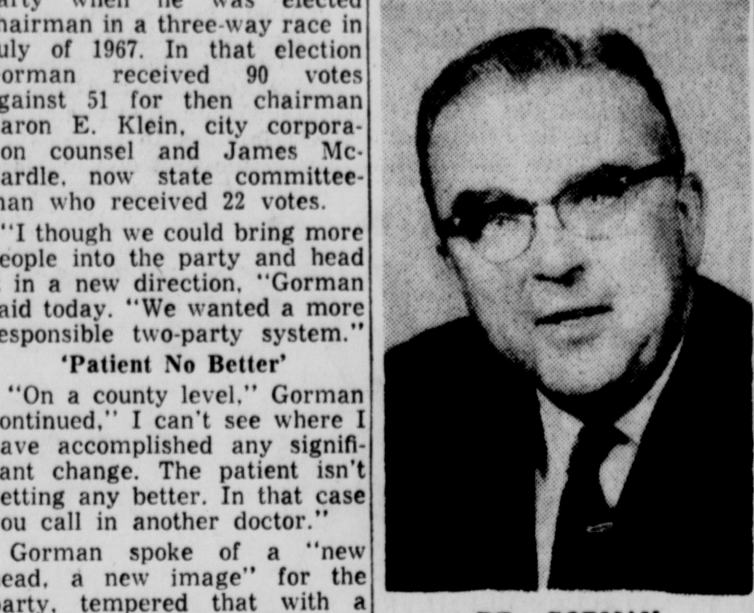

He ran for coroner in 1965 on a platform to abolish the position and establish an office of county medical examiner. He was defeated by about 400 votes.

Former City Chairman
In December of 1965 Gorman was elected Kingston City Democratic chairman, a post he gave up in January of last year. He was succeeded by Thomas R. Lyle, Kingston city clerk.

Last year Gorman won his only election, defeating George Majestic of Gardiner in a primary for the Democratic Assembly nomination. Gorman was subsequently defeated for the H. Clark Bell, the Republican. Gorman said the Republican sweep of the county legislature in 1967 was one of the prime factors that led to his decision not to seek reelection. It was a resounding defeat for the party," Gorman said. Despite his disappointments in the chairmanship, Gorman said he will remain active politically, regardless of what moves he makes in the immediate future.

Two men have been prominently mentioned to succeed Gorman, Klein and McCordle, the two who opposed him when he was elected chairman in 1967.

Youngsters Collect $1,700 for Dimes

"The best year ever," said Leon Van Heusen, of the Ulster County March of Dimes campaign in announcing that between 60 and 65 youngsters helped raise $1,700 in a concerted six-hour drive Saturday.

The campaigners, organized by the Hi-Y Club of the Kingston, collected the money on street corners throughout the city between 10:30 and 4 p.m., raising $312 more than they did last year, which was considered a top year.

At the conclusion of the Drive the boys and girls were treated to a pizza and pop party at an uptown restaurant with the tab being picked up by an anonymous donor who has made a similar contribution for more than a half dozen years.

Van Heusen emphasized this morning that the youngsters and their adult directors were "most appreciative of donations made."

Mental Health Middletown Bus On January 29

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health sponsors a bus to Middletown State Hospital once a month for the convenience of persons in the area who wish to visit patients at the hospital. The bus runs on either the last Sunday or the last Wednesday of each month.

This month the bus will run on Wednesday, Jan. 29. It leaves from the Park Diner in Kingston at 11:45 a.m. It also stops at "The Elms" in Rosendale at noon and at the Grand Union, corner of North Chestnut and Main Streets in New Paltz at 12:10 p.m.

On the return journey, the bus leaves the hospital at 4 p.m., stops as necessary on the route and arrives in Kingston at approximately 5:30 p.m.

Calendars giving the schedule for the year may be obtained upon request to the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street. The office is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

If requested in advance, it is possible to arrange for the bus to pick up passengers at other points on the route, which goes through Wallkill.

In New Paltz information may be obtained from Mrs. Albert S. Kerr.

Jail Trucker In Greene, $275 Fines Not Paid

CATSKILL — Hoyt A. Cromer, 30, a truck driver from Newberry, S.C., was committed to the Greene County jail Sunday after being unable to pay fines aggregating $375 on charges involving drugs and a firearm. Cromer pleaded guilty to the charges.

Cromer was stopped on Route 23A near here by Trooper Nolan Pazin of the Leeds substation for a routine check. Investigation resulted in his arrest on charges of criminal possession of drugs and illegal possession of a loaded firearm.

Arraigned before Town Justice George Carl, Cromer pleaded guilty to the drugs count, and also to a reduced charge of possessing an unloaded firearm. The truck driver was ordered held in jail until the fines are paid, authorities said.

Gallo on Rockefeller: Good Man With Figures

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo represented the city at Friday's town meeting in Rockland county called by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on his state budget and said that he came away with the impression that the governor was practicing a slight of hand game on the taxpayers.

Gallo told The Freeman that he felt a "falacy" had been state spending and revenues, created by Rockefeller's comments on the new state budget.

To wit, Rockefeller has announced an "austerity budget" that includes a five per cent cut in spending.

Gallo saw it somewhat differently. "What amazed me," he told The Freeman, "is that everyone was under the impression that Rockefeller was cutting the budget."

Gallo said Rockefeller displayed slides and charts showing state spending and revenues, created by Rockefeller's comments on the new state budget.

governor's original budget showed a 26 per cent increase in spending. "All he's doing is cutting five per cent from the original 26 per cent hike," Gallo said. "That still leaves a 21 per cent rise."

The alderman-at-large was attending the meeting in Letchworth Village, Rockland County, in place of Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, who was unable to attend.

"Rocky could take a few lessons from Mayor Raymond

W. Garraghan when it comes to budgets," Gallo said. Rocky's try at pay as you go hasn't worked, Garraghan's has. Just take a look at this year's budget cut for the city of Kingston."

Gallo said that schools appeared to be in the most trouble from Rockefeller's budget cut proposals.

"Rocky's done a clever little thing in respect to the schools," Gallo said. Gallo went on to say that Rockefeller apparently gave the schools the impression that they would be getting a 26 per cent increase in funds and that the schools made up their budgets accordingly. A cut in school expenditures would be attributed to Rockefeller when he was, in fact, responsible for part of the rise.

Gallo was not entirely critical of Rockefeller. He credited the governor with a "beautiful shot" against critics from Rockland County of his budget cuts. "Rocky asked them why they hadn't implemented a sales tax if they were so short of money," Gallo said. "Our own county officials might take heed of that remark by the governor," Gallo concluded.

Others attending from Ulster County included Louis J. Smith, president of the Kingston Rotary Club; Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee; Benjamin Miller of Ellenville; Philip Gordon of Phoenicia and Andrew J. Murphy, III, Kingston superintendent of recreation.

Encouraging Word On Project STEP

Project STEP, The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Counseling, training and placement program, has been working for over two months to help alleviate the unemployment and under-employment problems in the Kingston area.

A person who is unemployed is well-aware of his problem and knows he can look for help through Project STEP. The under-employed worker on the other hand, may not realize his problem or think he can be helped.

The under-employed of the community are those whose jobs do not fully utilize their skills or do not allow them to discover their capabilities to learn new skills. Perhaps they believe they cannot be retrained and, therefore, would not be able to find more interesting, better-paying jobs.

It is the concern of the business community, through the Chamber's Project STEP, that these under-employed workers, as well as the unemployed, have the opportunity to be retrained for jobs which realize their potential abilities. In this way, the individual's personal needs for advancement will be fulfilled, as well as the needs of the community for skilled workers.

William A. Schenck, Project Coordinator for Project STEP, described the procedures taken when a candidate visits his office at 116 Pine Grove Avenue.

"Initially, we try to find out as much as possible about a candidate's background," Schenck said. "He fills out an application form, and I talk to him about his personal interests as well as his educational and employment history. After the interview, I write up a report on the candidate's experience and interests and record my observations and impressions. Then my real work begins—matching the candidate's qualifications with possible positions."

Schenck uses business and industrial contacts, local want ads, and the New York State Employment Service job openings lists as his sources of information. "When I find a prospective match," he said, "I arrange an interview with the employer and the candidate. If the candidate is hired, I check periodically with the employer and the candidate to see if there are any problems."

"It should be stressed," he added, "that counseling is available to the candidate both before and after placement."

"If the candidate is not hired, I talk with the employer to determine why not, and then I try to correct the problem through counseling with the candidate."

According to Schenck, all applications, even those of candidates who have been placed in jobs, are kept active for consideration when new openings are available.

The response to the program so far has been encouraging. At the end of December, 41 candidates have been interviewed. The number of replacements, however, has been low, due to the fact that available job openings have not been made known to Schenck.

Coleman HS Director Elevated to Monsignor

By JEAN F. DOLAN

A promise made in October future for him.

Msgr. McCarthy has served as director of the local school through its formative growth family. The school was named as the first co-educational Catholic High School in Ulster and Sullivan Counties, was named Domestic Prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor by order of Pope Paul.

Msgr. McCarthy went to New York City Friday to receive the script from Rome concerning the designation.

At the Oct. 19 dedication of the new Catholic co-educational high school on Hurley Avenue Extension, Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of the Archdiocese of New York had assured Father M. McCarthy that such an elevation in rank was in the near future for him.

Honor Pastor

Members of the Rev. William J. McVey family share the spotlight at a retirement testimonial Saturday night for the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The event was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel with more than 300 parishioners and friends attending. Pictured at the head table are (seated, L) Mrs. McVey, Dr. Wilma Anita Evans, their daughter; Mrs. William J. McVey Jr.; (standing) the Rev. Mr. McVey and son William Jr. Among those participating in the program were Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, representing the city; the Rev. John Sensenig, Hudson River Presbytery executive; the Rev. William A. Studwell, president of the Kingston Area Council of Churches; the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise, who presented a Kiwanis Club citation; Robert E. Lane, chairman of the testimonial committee who presented the McVey family with a purse and Ward B. Tongue as toastmaster. Also on the dais was noted lecturer Frederic Snyder, a close family friend.

Driver Is Arrested After Rosendale Chase

ROSENDALE — A 33-year-old Bloomington man, the object of a high speed chase early today in the Town of Rosendale was cut off and halted by two sheriff's deputies and charged with six traffic violations.

Lawrence Machione was arrested and charged him with failure to halt at a stop sign, reckless driving, speeding, failure to comply, failure to dim lights and failure to produce registration. Arresting officers were Deputies James Freese and Barton Kniffen.

Machione was brought before Raymond LeFever. He was released in his own recognizance for appearance 8 o'clock tonight.

Deputy Freese said he was on patrol on Route 213 when a car approached at high speed and with upper beam headlights on. The deputy's car turned around and followed with siren and flashing lights. At the River Road in Tillson the deputies cut of the vehicle and brought it to a halt. The chase started about 2:30 a.m.

Vandals Cause $300 Damage In Mettakahonts

METTAKAHONTS — Vandalism sometime Friday night or Saturday at Odum Resort in this community caused about $200 to $300 worth of damage according to a report to the county sheriff's office Saturday afternoon.

Henry Kalman, who is affiliated with the summer camp reported the incident to Deputy Bruce Schoonmaker. Deputies Roger Lapp and Bernard Scherdtfeger checked the buildings Sunday and reported 12 buildings damaged, window and doors broken and furnishings in the rooms thrown about. Kalman is checking to determine if anything is missing.

Army Mutiny Trial Opens on West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The historic Presidio, founded the same year the Declaration of Independence was signed, and long considered a "showplace" by the nation's GIs because of its oceanside beauty, Tuesday becomes the site of a rare mutiny trial.

The first six of 27 accused mutineers are scheduled to be brought at gunpoint from the barbed wire enclosed stockade high on a bluff overlooking the Golden Gate Bridge. They will face a general court martial in a neat military courtroom—for holding a sit-down strike.

The Army goes to Federal Court today to answer charges that stockade prisoners received cruel treatment. The suit was brought on behalf of 17 of the defendants by attorney Terence Hallinan, who termed the stockade the Army's "Black Hole of Calcutta."

The consequences of a guilty verdict in a mutiny case can be death, but the Army said it would not impose the maximum penalty in any of the Presidio cases.

The 27 soldiers were stockade prisoners Oct. 14, 1968 when they held a brief sit-down strike and refused to go to their work details.

They protested alleged inhumane conditions at the stockade and the fatal shooting of a prisoner by a guard three days earlier. The Army said the slain inmate, Pvt. Richard Bunch, 19, of Dayton, Ohio, was trying to escape.

The Army accused all 27 of mutiny and pressed the charges despite a recommendation by a military hearing officer that the charge "does not apply."

Capt. Richard J. Millard said the most serious charge against the 27 should have been willful disobedience.

Army authorities have refused all requests by newsmen to interview the prisoners. They have also denied newsmen permission to visit the stockade, although such an inspection was allowed before Bunch was shot.

Those to face the court Tuesday are: Larry Zaino, Toledo, Ohio; Larry Reidel, Crescent City, Calif.; John Colip, Sacramento, Calif.; Richard L. Dodd, Hayward, Calif.; Edward Yost, El Mira, Calif.; and Louis Oczepenski, Florida, N.Y.

Naked Players Face Charges In Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Six actors and four actresses were arrested Sunday at the University of Michigan after performing in a play in which they stripped naked.

They were ordered to appear in District Court in Ann Arbor today on indecent exposure charges which carry a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $500 fine. Police did not release the names of those arrested.

The members of the New York company, the Performance Group, removed their clothes for 15 minutes a third of the way through the 3½-hour play, "Dionysus in '69," and for 20 minutes at the end.

Advance billing that the actors would "kiss and fondle each other from head to toe" created a furor among state legislators.

State Sen. Gilbert Bursley, Ann Arbor Republican, said Sunday night "some of my colleagues will no doubt be shocked" when he reports to the state Senate this week.

However, University President Robben Fleming, who did not attend, defended the play in a statement Saturday, in which he said nudity was difficult to describe as obscene, and at question was "the context within which nudity occurred."

Academic and professional people regarded the play, a contemporary version of Euripides' "Bacchae," as worthy of serious consideration, Fleming said.

Diesel Smoke Brings Out City Firemen

Six fire trucks were dispatched to the vicinity of 474 Broadway at 11:11 a. m. Sunday after a woman reported dense smoke around the Central Bakery. On arrival firemen discovered the smoke came from diesel-driven buses of Trailways. Capt. Robert Schatzel was in charge.

Firemen responded to another smoke scare Saturday, after a report was received from police headquarters. Firemen in charge of Deputy Chief Robert Maines went to Greenkill Avenue and found smoke coming from a diesel engine near the freight house.

Novice Bridge Game Tonight

A Novice Duplicate Bridge game for players with fewer than 20 Master Points will be conducted by the Jewish Community Center Bridge Club today at 7:30 p.m. at the Center, 96 Maiden Lane under the direction of Mrs. Andrew Dykes.

All area bridge players may attend. Partnerships will be arranged, but those seeking partners should arrive no later than 10 minutes before game time.

Mrs. Samuel Levine and Mrs. Sidney Pauker had a .685 game to take top honors North-South in the regular Thursday duplicate bridge game conducted by the center. Twenty-four boards were in play in an eight table Mitchell movement. Winners East-West were Nathan Katatsky and Alfred Rose with .595.

Second place North-South went to William Russ and Dr. Harry McNamara with .619 and Stanley Kaplan and Milton Dubin captured third with .560. On the East-West side, James Cavin and Irving Goldsmith placed second with .580 while Fred Stern and Jack Nutzley tied for third with Dr. John Olivet and Mrs. Dykes with .505. The next regular game will be on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the center. All bridge players may attend. Partnerships will be arranged.

Morals Charge

KERHONKSON — A 26-year-old man was taken into custody Sunday on a morals charge by Ellenville State police, who reported Lewis Waruch, of Accord, was charged with sexual abuse of a child, third degree, a misdemeanor. Waruch was released in custody of his counsel, Attorney Frank Spada. Town Justice Abram D. Smith adjourned hearing until later. The charge involved a 12-year-old girl, authorities said. BCI Investigator Thomas Searles made the arrest after investigating a complaint.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The list was irregular opening today in moderately active trading.

The favorable news background was expected to stimulate a more aggressive demand, although carryover selling from late last week could again play some role. Included in the news were reports that machine tool makers were looking for increased ordering in the next few months, and that demand for steel continued to hold up well last week.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator showed a gain of 0.18 per cent on 346 issues traded. Advances topped declines, 155 to 114.

Oils were mixed, as were steels. Electronics and motors also moved in both directions. Atlantic Richfield lost a point in the oils, while Sinclair gave up 1/4. Occidental and Cities services, meanwhile, added 1/4 and 1/2, respectively.

In the steels, Bethlehem gained 1/4. U. S. Steel lost 1/4. Republic dipped 1/4. Magnavox dipped 1/4 in the electronics, with Westinghouse off 1/4. However, National Cash Register climbed 1/4.

50 Attend WHITA Meeting

WOODSTOCK — A vote taken at a WHITA meeting here Friday night went against the proposed county sales tax, 15-12. There were some 50 persons present at the We've Had It Taxpayers Association meeting held in Deanie's Restaurant.
 Harry Thayer, a spokesman for WHITA, said the meeting revolved around the county tax matter and, although WHITA has not as yet taken a stand on the tax, Thayer said he was individually in favor of it.
 Supervisor George Majestic of Gardiner, according to Thayer, spoke "vehemently and at great length against" the county tax plan.
 Thayer said the meeting "had a good turnout" and added that a number of persons signed up for the St. Valentine's Day trip to Albany, dubbed "Have A Heart Rocky."
 The Woodstock meeting was part of a series leading up to a meeting in Kingston scheduled for the George Washington School at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday. A representative of Sullivan County will be on hand, said Thayer, to tell of its sales tax now in effect.
 He added that the Ontario Central School District section of the governing board of WHITA will now meet every third Friday of the month in Woodstock.

Neighborhood Newspaper

Now that the pundits have told us about the depth and breadth of Richard M. Nixon's inaugural address, perhaps we may be pardoned if we become parochial and thanked him for his tribute to the hometown newspaper. This is the way he put it:

After saying that the American dream does not come to those who fall asleep, he said:

Our greatest need now is to reach beyond Government, to enlist the legions of the concerned and the committed.

"What has to be done, has to be done by Government and people together or it will not be done at all. The lesson of past agony is that without the people we can do nothing; with the people we can do everything."

"To match the magnitude of our tasks, we need the energies of our people—enlisted not only in grand enterprises, but more importantly in those small, splendid efforts that make headlines in the neighborhood newspaper instead of the national journal."

This is a neighborhood newspaper. We are proud that the President has singled us out, among the thousand and more neighborhood newspapers in this country, as the means of enlisting the legions of the concerned and the committed.

There is a saying in newspaper publishing that all business is local. Big city newspapers use it to assert their neighborliness. Small city newspapers do not make such a claim. They are the neighborhood newspapers. Mr. Nixon recognizes the fact and declares his dependence on them for the summons to greatness he has issued to the nation and to the world.

"With these (the energies of the people enlisted those small, splendid efforts that make headlines in the neighborhood newspaper) we can build a cathedral of the spirit—each of us raising it one stone at a time, as he reaches out to his neighbor, helping, caring, doing," the President said. That is the way of good neighbors, the way of this city, the way of our people.

Taxpayers Revolt

The first compilation of the total amount of tax collections lost to the government in a given year showed that more than $50 billion revenue will be lost to the U.S. Treasury this year. The compilation was presented to the Joint Economic Committee of Congress last week by outgoing Secretary of the Treasury Joseph W. Barr.

Because of loopholes in tax laws that account for these losses, Barr warned of a revolt of the tens of millions of middle class taxpayers—those with incomes of $7,000 to $20,000 a year—who now pay over half of the individual income taxes. These middle class taxpayers are in revolt, not because of the level or amount of the taxes they must pay but because certain provisions of the tax laws lighten the burdens of others who can afford to pay.

"People are concerned and, indeed, angered about the high-income recipients who pay little or no federal income tax, Barr said. He cited the extreme cases of 155 taxpayers who had adjusted gross incomes of $200,000 each or more in 1967 but paid no federal income tax. Among them were 21 who had incomes of more than $1 million.

These facts have been rumored before, but no complete list had ever before been compiled and presented to a legislative committee of Congress for possible action. Barr also disclosed plans to make public next week the long-secret tax reform proposals worked out by the Treasury department.

With such proof, the Nixon Administration and Congress should give top priority to tax reform. After all, if $50 billion a year is lost through loopholes, that is more than one-fourth of all federal income. Recovering it would exceed the money that would be saved after the end of the war. That much money could help solve many problems—or pay off the national debt in seven years so that we could start all over financing our needs from scratch.

More Cabinet Meetings Would Benefit Country

WASHINGTON — Now that inauguration festivities are over, the unspectacular, though important, operation of the government have been resumed. The new President, with his 12-member cabinet confirmed by the Senate, can concentrate on the problems left behind by the preceding administration.

The handling of the many complex issues that confront the executive branch of the government today is hard to describe to the American people. Much of it wouldn't interest them as the subjects are technical in nature.

One of the handicaps to American Government is that there is a constant pressure from the outside for certain kinds of information, even though a policy might not be fully developed or a negotiation might be hampered by making details public too soon.

The American people are entitled to know what is going on in their government. It has long been argued, however, that this should not justify disclosure in the midst of the study of a crucial plan or, in the case of international negotiations, before the response of another government has been obtained. Diplomacy requires that most matters remain confidential, at least until decisions have been made. But "leaks" occur, and many a worthwhile objective is frustrated because of premature publicity.

President Nixon has a Cabinet of able men. Other Presidents have had Cabinet officers of the same calibre. But the most important thing is how the Chief Executive delegates tasks to his Cabinet, and whether he depends upon them for advice on the subjects which require his own decision.

There was a time when Cabinet meetings were held twice a week. But today a whole echelon of advisers has been interposed between the White House and the heads of the various departments. This process has been expanded in recent years as government has been enlarged. Also, many special agencies or commissions have had to be created to give attention to problems to which the major departments could not devote the necessary time.

There have been relatively few Cabinet meetings in the last eight years. The tendency has been for the President to consult the staff of advisers who are at his elbow in the Executive offices. The members of this group are not subject to confirmation by the Senate.

The Cabinet secretaries usually are inclined to spend most of their time on the programs of their respective departments. But a President would be benefited by more frequent Cabinet meetings because this would afford him an opportunity to get viewpoints which might indeed reflect the trends of public opinion, too.

It would be even better if the Cabinet officers could spend more of their time on over-all policies, including those outside their respective departments. This could be done if a general manager were appointed for each department — a career official who could continue to serve whether or not he had come into office while another party was in power.

When the President gets all the information from his specialists, as well as their suggestions as to what policy should be followed, it would be helpful to him if he placed highly important questions before the Cabinet as a whole for discussion. Each of the secretaries would at least have a general idea of what the impact might be if certain policies, both domestic and foreign, were adopted.

In any event, there would be less risk than is the case with one-man government. For even though the staff advisers gather the necessary information for the President, and they are sensitive to the wishes of the American people, there is an advantage when the President consults other members of his official family before making decisions.

The British and Canadian Parliamentary systems operate with a Cabinet that has a direct responsibility to the people. The Prime Minister does not make decisions by himself. Although the Cabinet officers in our government are not members of Congress, their appointments have been confirmed by the Senate, and they have a responsibility to the public as well as to the President.

If the custom of holding Cabinet meetings twice a week were restored and if all viewpoints were presented, there is no doubt that the Chief Executive would be greatly helped in reaching correct decisions. The country would benefit by the practice. (Copyright, 1969, Publishers Hall Syndicate)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

There is something exquisitely revolting about being sick. The pain may be in your head, but that is not where you really feel it. In my case, it can be bluntly stated that, in good health, I am insufferable; in illness, impossible.

The doctor says that I have Hong Kong flu; a fresh head cold; and a smidgen of pneumonia in both lungs. This column, written on a rack of pain, is being smuggled out in a Chinese fortune cookie. When I am ill, I am not content with bathroom privileges. I want an FM radio, a pack of cigarettes, an assortment of talking visitors, and a portable typewriter.

The situation fairly cries for lots of action; otherwise, the clock drags its hands. My pity is reserved for the chump who must lie in bed, hacking and sniffling, alone. I want everyone to be present to watch the final threshing of legs, the hoarse appeal to heaven to reverse the maladies and to strike the happy little germs dead at once.

My bloodstream is a bacteria playground. They float over the top of the head, slide down an arm, make a side trip to the liver, and often become highly personal. We are going to put a stop to all this — the doctor and I. Do you know how we're going to do it? We're going to stop these silly one-night stands on television stations. In addition, I will attend no more funerals except my own — and may even skip that one.

My pills come in assorted sizes and colors every four hours. Sometimes, my wife is forced to awaken me at three a.m. to take a sleeping pill, even though I have cautioned her to please let sleeping pills lie.

All of this nonsense started in the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco. I went to bed feeling vigorous and youthful and, like Doctor Faust, I awakened an old man. A bitter old man. That was December 1st, 1968, and I may be the first person to have had the Hong Kong flu. Like that respected old hag, Typhoid Mary, I carried it from place to place.

Personally, my spasms of coughing were so liberal that, when I arrived home, I sent one of the welcome dogs flying into a corner. He was a German shepherd pup named Charlie Chan. Who else would you give it to? In the morning, he was an old dog.

I would like to mail a few of my tissues to Hong Kong, but my wife insists that they have enough trouble trying to decipher one Chinese from another, without barking like Chow dogs.

Yesterday, Dr. Louis

Bennett completed another insulting examination and insists that, in spite of his professional ministrations, I may live. Giving medicine to me, he said, is like giving one pill to another. I pay no attention to his jokes, and even less to his bills.

He can afford to be happy-go-lucky because he is young and energetic and, unless he throws a seven, is going to be around long after my family puts me in the umbrella stand in the hall.

In the meantime, someone should invent a happy pill for those who are sick. I don't mean liquor, because booze is a crooked friend. The patient should have a nostrum which, as he lies upon his cold pallet, assures him that all is well, that he is as strong as Atlas, as handsome as Tyrore Power, as romantic as Maurice Chevalier, as rich as Onassis, as brilliant a conversationalist as Oscar Wilde.

Medical authorities state that 40,000,000 people now have Hong Kong flu. This means, inversely, that 160,000,000 people haven't got it. Those are the sneaks who can afford Florida all winter, orange juice, and a condescending attitude toward the sick. These are the kind who sell Girl Scout Cookies, or maybe sell girl scouts called cookies.

At any rate, as I shift the pillows for the 23rd time, I can tell you this: being ill makes me sick...

Lady Senator Puts the New Defense Executive on Spot

WASHINGTON — One little-known fact about the new Deputy Secretary of Defense, David Packard, is that his firm, though doing millions of dollars worth of business with the Defense Department, refused to open its books to the General Accounting Office. The GAO, which is required to check on government contracts, was suspicious over the Hewlett-Packard Company's high profits, wanted to see whether prices had any relation to costs. It was charging in some cases a 94 per cent price hike.

But Packard, who now becomes No. 2 man in the Defense Department, objected. He objected for five long years. Meanwhile, the issue of whether he had to open his books was battled out in the courts. In the end he lost. The Packard company was forced to open their books to the government.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, only lady Senator and a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was curious as to whether Packard, as Deputy Secretary of Defense, would continue to believe that defense contractors did not have to open their books.

"This matter has been decided by the courts," Packard told her. "I would consider it my duty to uphold the law of the land."

Sen. Smith recalled that the GAO general counsel stated that of some 180 contractors whose records were examined in 1961-62 "Your company was the only one to refuse to allow the GAO to examine the cost records. . . . I gather from what you have said you have changed your mind on this issue, then?"

"I have changed my mind, Senator Smith, because I think in the first place I have to support the rulings of the court, and I consider that question closed and settled," replied Packard.

But the lady from Maine was not satisfied. "Since you have never requested confidential treatment of your company's cost data with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the law's provision granting confidential treatment in justified cases," she said, "I do not understand why you raised such an issue with the investigative arm of the Congress — the General Accounting Office. Why haven't you raised this issue with the SEC?"

"The SEC disclosure provision," replied Packard, "requires disclosure of a company's over-all financial affairs, its profits, its costs, and all of the other pertinent financial information. I am entirely in accord with that."

"It was simply that the disclosure of specific costs on a specific instrument we thought might be well not to have in the hands of competitors."

94 Per Cent Price Hike
But Mrs. Smith was not finished.

Obviously, Mr. Packard, she remarked, "one of the purposes of the GAO audit was to determine if your company had made excessive profits on its contracts with the Air Force, since the GAO reported the proposed prices of your company exceeded the previously experienced costs under prior contracts for similar beacons by 94 per cent. . . .

"Do you feel it was unreasonable for the Congress through the GAO to have the cost data to determine if your company had made excessive profits, especially when you had not asked the SEC for confidential treatment of the cost data of your company?"

"I think there must have been misunderstanding about these items," alibied Packard. "They were standard commercial products that we supplied."

"Again," said Packard, "I emphasize that the issues have been resolved by the courts."

He never did adequately explain why he refused during a five-year court battle to let the government see his cost figures, though other defense contractors gave the government ready access.

Note — Packard is giving up his $700,000-a-year salary for a $30,000 government salary in the Defense Department. However, he is not selling his $300 million worth of stock in his company as Robert McNamara and Charles E. Wilson sold their stock in Ford and General Motors before they became Secretary of Defense.

Anti-Medicare Lobby
Two of the first people who called on Robert Finch after his appointment as Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare were spokesmen for the doctors and insurance companies. Finch is the boss of Medicare.

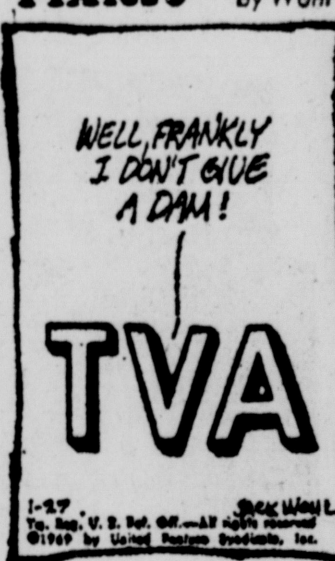

Dr. Dwight Wilbur, president of the American Medical Association, and Paul Hawkins, Washington representative of the Health Insurance Association of America, came around to see Finch about legislation to curb Medicare and Medicaid. They even phoned and visited Finch several times before he was sworn in. It will be interesting to see what their influence is.

Slow-Moving Congress
The new 91st Congress is starting at the usual turtle pace. On the House side, literally nothing has been done in the last three weeks, except for the seating of Adam Clayton Powell and the filling of committee vacancies.

Meantime, House leaders have agreed to a series of vacation periods, beginning Feb. 7 when members will enjoy a week of time off, with pay, at taxpayer expense, over Lincoln's Birthday.

This will be followed by a 10-day recess for Easter in April, a long Memorial Day weekend at the end of May, another long weekend over July 4, plus an extra three-week holiday beginning August 13. There is sure to be much groaning late in the session about lack of time to pass important legislation, all because of too much vacationing and the failure to get down to business now.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Anti-Semitism Spread Danger

The New York Metropolitan Museum of Art curator of paintings, Theodore Rousseau Jr., one of the ablest in his field in the world, is faced by 10 defaced paintings, including Rembrandt's Christ with a Pilgrim's Staff, Florentio's Portrait of a Man and other lesser masterpieces. The defacing is a knife "H" — presumably for Harlem.

The uproar, with chanting pickets and all, was a protest against the museum's "Harlem on My Mind" exhibition. And the keynote is an undiscussed nationwide backlash that explodes in the more aggressive Negro organizations behind the scenes and tragically complicates the nation's racial problem.

It is anti-Semitism — and it is high time that the sham of this be torn away and, by exposure, the pleas of moderate Negro leaders be headed.

Like cholera, it contains the danger of spreading.

It is the springboard for much of the Mohammed nonsense of draft-fighting muslims Cassius Clay; Elijah Mohammed, his ambitious eyes as hot as the Sahara; and other pseudo-Arab-patterned molesters of the Negro welfare and of the public welfare, which are the same thing, by their poisonous fangs and the hiss of an adder.

It accounts for the statement by Chicago Negro leader Lawrence Landry at a White House Conference on civil rights: "The trouble with this meeting is that there are too many Jews in it."

The anti-Semitism is admitted by such as David Watkins, editor of The Liberator newspaper in New York, who calls this and other irreconcilable turbulences "The Game." It means "turning White on," or "shaking up the Jew sharks." What others are prepared to accept is the testing purpose.

They scoff at any advances. These are attributed to a "guilty conscience" among whites and, zeroing in especially against the Jews, are called merely (and scornfully) defensive. The Jewish people have been the largest money supporters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. This is sneered at.

Surely, the Negro in our country is much better off today than ever before. For example, a larger percentage of our Negro population now goes to college — and graduates — than the percentage of England's white population goes to college. But such advances they totally ignore.

What we call "riots" they call "insurrections." What we call "looting" they call "rebellion." They use (and thus excuse) the same term — rebellion — for violence, murder and city burnings. And what we call "working toward better racial understanding" they call a standard unprintable word.

Their purpose is not to compose but to annihilate; not reconcile but to crush; not to build but to destroy.

Leaving Africa after visiting Castro's Cuba and North Vietnam, listen to Stokely Carmichael in Bar Es Salaam: "I am going back to hell — the United States," which also is frequently referred to by his ilk as "Jewland."

Yet there can be no divided allegiance here. Any man who says he is an American but also something else isn't an American at all. We have room for but one flag, the American flag, and for only one people, the American people, and this has been our unique glory as the great melting pot of the world.

Meanwhile, there are only 20.5 million Negroes in the entire United States out of a 202-million population and less than 14 million Jews in the entire world of which just 5.7 million are Americans, an over-all national total astoundingly less than generally supposed.

The introduction to the Metropolitan Museum's catalogue of the "Harlem on My Mind" exhibition read: "Behind every hurdle the Afro-American has yet to jump stands a Jew who has already cleared it. . . . Blacks may find that anti-Jewish sentiments place them, for once, within a majority. Thus our contempt for the Jew makes us feel more completely American in sharing a national prejudice."

Museum Director Thomas P. F. Hoving defended the introduction. "It states a fact," he said. "If the truth hurts, so be it."

Nobody is entitled to throw mud at the rainbow here. This great nation is committed to one tremendous fact: we ask peace and human understanding. All is far from perfect, but we're trying, we're trying, and that good try itself permits no anti-trial or anti-which poisons the try.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Jan. 27, 1949—The Ontario Central School Board of Education completed plans to sell rural school buildings and lands of former community school districts 13 (Shandaken) and 10 (Lexington).

Jan. 27, 1959—Nineteen persons were booked by Kingston Police within 24 hours during a special roundup of traffic law offenders that filled the night court docket with a record number of cases.

A 35-acre day camp site in Shokan was purchased by the Kingston YMCA for $16,500. The purchase ended a 16-year association of the "Y" day camp with the DeWitt Lake facility.

SITE OF HIGHWAY PROJECT — Town of Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, Superintendent of Highways Edgar Elliott and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, in the usual order, inspect site of $1,790,000 highway and bridge project on Route 199, the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge approach. Former Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, who initiated the project was unable to attend the Saturday inspection tour due to his recent illness. The project includes construction of two additional lanes on Route 199 for a little less than a mile. The 24-foot-wide concrete pavement will be built to provide a 20-foot median bounded on the south by Route 199's present two lanes and will extend from Route 9W interchange easterly to just off Route 32. The project will also require another two-lane bridge over Route 32. Bids will be opened Feb. 27 at the State Department of Transportation Office at Albany. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Mansfield Says Nixon Is Off To Good Start on Paris Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the Nixon administration is off to "a good beginning" in taking over the U.S. role at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

Mansfield said proposals made by Nixon's representative in Paris, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, seemed aimed at establishing "the strongest possible positions" for the United States.

Mansfield was joined in his assessment by Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, who said the talks under Lodge were off to "a very good start."

Both senators, however, cautioned that the discussions are not likely to move to a quick settlement.

Neither Mansfield nor Aiken said they saw much difference in the Paris policies of the Nixon delegation from those followed by the U.S. negotiators sent by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The chief U.S. negotiator under Johnson, W. Averell Harriman, said Sunday he could not predict but hopes for a de-escalation in the fighting and the withdrawal of some American troops from Vietnam by the end of this year.

"I would hope very much that a mutual agreement could be reached in de-escalation of the fighting, and it would be possible for a mutual agreement on the withdrawal of foreign forces, including those of Vietnam, and we could see some of our men come home this year with very much reduced fighting."

Harriman was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press" radio-TV program.

Hope for a quick settlement also came from Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and a strong critic of the war policies pursued by Johnson.

Nixon "didn't get us into this unfortunate situation and I think he ought to settle it, and I believe he will because I think he has the sense of the significance of this past election."

The American people will support Nixon "if he settles this war on any kind of reasonable basis," Fulbright said.

Nixon's First Priority: Cut That Record Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top government official says several Johnson administration programs will be cut or eliminated as soon as possible to make room for the objectives of President Nixon.

In a letter to top department and agency heads, Budget Director Robert P. Mayo Sunday urged the officials to study the budget submitted by former President Johnson to see which proposals can be thrown out or scaled down.

"This task is urgent and important," Mayo said. "We must start now to redirect the government's activities along the lines of our own objectives, reducing and removing programs where we can."

Mayo also said the administration is assuming the Johnson-sponsored 10 per cent income surtax will be extended past its July 1 expiration date. Removal of the surtax remains a major goal of the Nixon administration that must wait until "economic conditions and defense needs will permit," the letter said.

Although Nixon promised during his presidential campaign to do all possible to eliminate or reduce the surtax, he has said more recently that probably won't be achieved until the Vietnam war ends.

Johnson predicted a surplus of more than $3 billion for this fiscal year and Mayo is trying to increase this in order to gain funding flexibility for the new administration.

Heading his list of suggestions was this one:

"Examine closely all programs, expansions and 'new starts' proposed by the preceding administration, and reduce or eliminate those of lower priority. For example, either federal programs or parts of programs which private industry could do just as well—or better—or which could be postponed or eliminated without serious loss in view of today's priorities and demands on the budget."

Guerrillas Pound Outpost With Rockets and Mortars

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas pounded the U.S. outpost at Dau Tieng northwest of Saigon with 30 rocket and mortar rounds today, military spokesmen said. It was the third attack on the base in five days.

Sunday terrorists tried to bomb a civil defense office in the Cholon section of Saigon and hurled an assault against the police station at Phan Rang 165 miles northeast of Saigon. Neither attack succeeded, spokesmen said.

In weekend ground fighting near Saigon, Communist forces lost 127 dead in three battles, spokesmen said.

Allied Negotiators Study New Surge

PARIS (AP) — American and South Vietnamese negotiators studied reports today on the upsurge of Viet Cong attacks, considering their effect on the Vietnam peace talks.

The attacks, apparently timed to coincide with the opening of the four party conference, intensified over the weekend along the Cambodian border and in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

South Vietnamese sources said the Saigon government probably would instruct its delegate, Pham Dang Lam, to warn the next meeting of the conference Thursday that any new American spokesmen reported "light" casualties and damage in the rocket and mortar attack today upon the U.S. 25th Infantry Division camp at Dau Tieng 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

At Phan Rang, Viet Cong attacked the police station with rocket grenades and automatic rifle fire. Police, however, chased the Red force out of town, capturing two Viet Cong at the cost of one policeman wounded.

Communist saboteurs slightly damaged a civil defense office in Saigon's Cholon Chinese section with a satchel charge. The terrorists escaped, spokesmen said.

U.S. Army 9th Infantry

Division troops reported killing 78 Communist soldiers and capturing three others in weekend fighting in a marshy area 25 miles southwest of Saigon. The Americans pounded the Communist troops with air strikes and artillery after trapping them in a palm tree-dotted region bordering South Vietnam's Plain of Reeds.

American losses were placed at seven killed and 12 wounded. North Vietnam said Sunday its forces shot down a U.S. F4 Phantom fighter-bomber in Nghe An Province Saturday morning. A radio broadcast monitored in Tokyo said the plane was in a formation which attacked several villages in the Nghi Loc district of the North Vietnamese province.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that in case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of the inflamed hemorrhoids took place.

The secret is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it! Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

It's Headbands, Trousers, Hats-for-Pants, for Spring

HAIR STYLIST MARC SINCLAIRE of Charles of the Ritz gathers about him some of his customers, the "beautiful people" who seem to have decreed an era of long, rich manes for women. Some of his "million dollar heads" are (l-r) Mrs. Anne Ford Uzielli; Mrs. Ahmed Taibi Benhima, wife of the Moroccan Ambassador to the U.N.; Mrs. Harilaos Theodoracopoulos; Mrs. Liberman Savitt, and Mrs. William Rayner. (UPI Telephoto)

ROME (UPI)—American designer Ken Scott, modestly dubbing himself the "most dynamic dress designer the world has ever seen," put sports into print in a free-wheeling fashion show Tuesday night that had police beating gatecrashers from the door.

A representative of Ban-Lon, the U.S. synthetic fiber manufacturer which backs Scott, confided in some embarrassment the police struggling to keep the uninvited out of Rome's Little Sports Palace accidentally manhandled some of the invited guests as well.

No sore heads were in evidence among several hundred spectators in the little arena built for the 1960 Rome Olympics. They were busy watching the parade of wild prints in drip-dry fabrics which Scott collected in a show backdropped by newsreel sports films.

Race cars, patterns of starters flags and numbers, baseball, tennis, football and the interiors of car engines joined geometric patterns in prints ranging from subtle beiges to pulsating purple.

The man from Fort Wayne paid tribute to his native state by dubbing one print "Indiana." He found the rectangles reminiscent of wheat fields.

PANTS SUIT, done in pale mint green, is presented during showing of Princess Irene Galitzine's spring-summer collection at Rome on January 22. The ensemble has a low "V" neck with a narrow band of beads circling the waist and continuing down the bare back. (UPI Cablephoto)

ITS FADE OUT
By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's faded out for the flower bedecked hats of other springs and faded in for hats designed especially to go with the pants costumes pervading the fashion scene.

But the diminishing of the all-over florals doesn't mean that the new hats are harshly tailored numbers. They're not, they're softly feminine with their face-framing brims, their soft chin ties of chiffon, their "whisper soft" pastel colorings.

At the industry's semiannual style show rounding up the outstanding trends for the new season, the phrase used to describe new chapeaux was "tender—greater emphasis on soft, feminine fashions... more delicate colors, fluffier fabrics".

Only an occasional flowered number showed; the accent was more on shape and the pale pastels.

Watch also for turbans by the dozens, any number of variations of the gauchy or sombrero shapes, and huge brims reminding of the days when the "picture" hat was a springtime classic.

The Millinery Institute of America gave the trend show for the nation's fashion reporters in New York to look at all phases of new ready-to-wear.

Because the pants look runs so strongly through almost all spring collections, the industry took note of it in styling hats to go with—not the "sportive, tie-on headgear" of previous seasons, but snappy felt and straw numbers just as pretty with dresses or suits as with pants.

One of the prettiest of this group was designer Frank Olive's exaggerated newsboy hat in puffy white straw with a wide, pastel-printed scarf banding it and streaming down the back. Its visored front marked a trend in that direction too.

In its pastel group, the industry rounded up the delicate neutrals plus pale pink, blue, peach, lime and lilac, to replace the wild psychedelic shades of last year. The accent was on felts here too.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

Who put the pop in popcorn? No one, of course. Popcorn pops when the kernel is heated. The heat changes the moisture inside the kernel to steam. Pressure of the steam causes the kernel to explode inside out, resulting in that chewy whiteness so favored by moviegoers, says Louise Kakargo Breiteng, Extension Home Economist.

U. S. farmers produce about one-half billion pounds of popcorn on the cob each year. This is sufficient to yield, when popped, about one quart of popcorn for each person in the country. Popcorn comes in both yellow and white varieties. Yellow varieties are usually larger than the white, making them more appealing to some. Others say the white popcorn is more tender. But whether your choice is yellow or white, you will find that almost 100 per cent of the kernels pop, an improvement over the corn of years ago.

One of the most popular of the hot appetizers is called "pigs in blankets," another name for a frankfurter or sausage wrapped in flaky pastry, and baked. If you were to buy these in a supermarket, 12 ounces of the frozen prepared franks in blankets will cost 89 cents, according to recent prices from a local store. The label promised 12 pieces in the box, so that each hors d'oeuvre weighing less than half an ounce costs about 7½ cents. Multiply that by a crowd of hungry guests, and you've got an expensive party. To make your own franks in a blanket, buy a tube of flaky biscuits at the dairy case of the supermarket. They cost 35 cents for 10 biscuits weighing a total of 8½ ounces. You'll also need a pound of frankfurters, often priced at about 69 cents. After you roll the biscuits around the frank cut them into small morsels for baking, you'll end up with 1½ pounds of ready-to-bake hors d'oeuvres or about 50 pieces at about 2 cents each.

AT THE MARKETS
BROILERS—Many food stores offer broilers at discount prices at least once a month, and sometimes more often. With broiler supplies running 3 to 5 per cent above a year ago, specials should be widespread. Since the special price is considerably lower than the usual price, you may wish to buy more than enough of these tender chickens for one meal and freeze some for future use. Cut up chicken stored at a constant temperature of zero degrees will keep for one year. But at a temperature of 20 degrees Fahrenheit, the maximum storage time is reduced to three months.

CANNED SALMON—The canned salmon pack is up considerably from last year's small pack, so expect prices to be more favorable than they have been. The two leading types of canned salmon are the red and the pink. The pink is less expensive than the red, but equally nutritious and well suited for numerous uses where color of the meat is of little concern.

FRESH FISH AND SHELLFISH—Shoppers should find that markets have ample supplies of such Southern fish as bluefish, red snapper, mullet, and mackerel. Flounders—black back, grey sole, and yellowtail—continue in good supply. Other fresh fish to consider include flounder fillets and cod steak and fillets, as well as swordfish and whiting. The top of the shellfish choices are hard and soft clams, hard crabs, mussels, oysters, and bay scallops.

DRY BEANS—A thrifty choice for January main dishes might well be dry beans. Dry beans come in many varieties, so if you've limited your choice to one or two you may want to try others. There's the small white navy or pea bean for baking and soups. The buff-colored pinto beans and the red kidney beans are popular for chili con carne and salads. The broad flat lima beans are a suitable choice for vegetable dishes and casseroles.

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—The recent freeze in Florida has taken its toll of fresh vegetables. Many are high in price. The best current choices are carrots, dry onions, film bag potatoes, mushrooms, and rutabagas. Among fresh fruits, consider apples, oranges, and small grapefruit.

Nuptial Vows Exchanged

Miss Elizabeth Ann Ward, daughter of Mrs. William Cunningham Ward of Stamford, Conn., and the late Attorney Ward, was married Saturday, Jan. 25, at St. Maurice Church, Stamford, to Dr. Robert John Cousins, son of C. Robert Cousins of 26 Kierstead Avenue, Kingston, and the late Mrs. Cousins.

The Rev. Msgr. James P. King, chancellor of the Diocese of Brooklyn, performed the ceremony. A reception was held afterwards at Pickwick Arms Hotel, Greenwich, Conn.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, William Cunningham Ward Jr. of Manhattan Beach, Calif., wore a peau d'oisie skimmer gown with a wedding ring collar, long sleeves and a detachable chapel train. Her gown was appliqued with Venice lace. She wore a matching bonnet with a four tiered silk illusion veil. She carried a prayerbook covered with phaltnopsis and stephanotis.

Mrs. Thomas J. King, of Washington, D. C., was her sister's matron of honor; Miss Kathleen A. Haley of Stamford, was maid of honor. Other attendants were attired in moss green velvet gowns with tapestry hems and rolled collars. They wore three tiered Dior bows in their hair and carried cascades of pink camellias.

MRS. ROBERT J. COUSINS

Paul G. Taylor of Storrs, Conn., was best man. Ushers were Dr. Richard Carrano of Wilmington, Del.; George P. Morris of Stamford, Conn., and Donald Avallone of West Hurley.

Mrs. Cousins is a graduate of the University of Connecticut, where she majored in Political Science. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Dr. Cousins was graduated with a BA in Zoology from the University of Vermont, where he was president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. Dr. Cousins received his MS in 1965 and PhD in Experimental Nutrition and Biochemistry in 1968 from the University of Connecticut. He is a Post-Doctoral Fellow in the Department of Biochemistry at the University of Wisconsin.

The couple will be at home in Madison, Wisc., after the third of February.

Kouhought - Whispell Wedding Announced

Miss Alice Jeannette Kouhought, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kouhought Jr. of 219 Green Street, Port Ewen, became the bride of David Whispell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Whispell of Kingston, on Sunday, Jan. 19, at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

The Rev. William Studwell officiated at the ceremony.

Honor attendants were Miss Karen Reynolds of Mt. Marion Park and Erving J. Whispell of this city.

After the wedding a reception was held at Ulster Park Grange. Mr. and Mrs. Whispell Jr. will reside at Kingston.

Little Indian Girl Hears Without Ears

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Five-year-old Elena Arroyo has no ears—but she has heard a miracle.

The little Indian girl, born without ears or ear canals, was brought here from her home high in the Sierra Madre Oriental Mountains of Mexico by Vola Griste, a missionary from Norman. A surgeon at Presbyterian Hospital built her an ear channel, using skin taken from her thigh.

And Elena can hear, even through the bandages which swathe her head. Miss Griste says when her name is called, she responds immediately—and a toy cash register given to her by a nurse has barely stopped ringing since Elena awoke following surgery.

Miss Griste, who found Elena while working with the Ojima Indians in Mexico, said even life is a miracle for the little girl. All Ojima children born with physical defects, she said, are permitted to die. However, Elena's parents had embraced the Christian religion and rejected the pagan custom.

With permission of the parents, Miss Griste brought little Elena here to see if surgery would help.

Miss Griste, who is paying for Elena's expenses from her own funds, said she cannot afford plastic surgery to give the child ears, but she hopes doctors can attach plastic ears to give Elena a normal appearance. And now that she can hear, there is hope that she can learn to talk.

Without ears, even though she can hear, Miss Griste said, the little girl will be an outcast tied them to her hair," Miss Griste said.

All baby girls of the Ojima tribe have their ears pierced in infancy and earrings are a pull to the back of the head," mark of pride among the tribe, the missionary added. "Without 'Elena wants earrings like ears she would be laughed at all her sisters so badly that she has her life.'

YOUNG HOUSEWIVES TEND TOWARD LOW-FAT MEATS

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Today's young housewife, conscious of calories and cholesterol, is leading the fast-growing consumer trend toward low-fat, tenderized meats. Sales of leaner, high protein meats will be on the meat industry highlights in 1969, predicts Carl Lavin, president of Sugar-dale Food, Inc. "Our market surveys show that young consumers—those in the 25 to 35 year age group—are leading the demand for leaner, more tender, high protein meats," says Mr. Lavin. "These women are heeding health warnings about overweight and cholesterol. And they feel that the slightly higher price for tenderized, low-fat products represent a better nutritional value."

CONGRESSMAN DIES—Rep. Robert A. (Fats) Everett (D-Tenn.) died Sunday at the Veterans Hospital in Nashville, Tenn., after an illness of several months. Everett had suffered from a kidney ailment complicated by diabetes and the hospital said he suffered from pneumonia complicated by flu when he entered the hospital. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Two Women Get Kidneys From
Auto Fatality

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two unidentified women are recovering today from surgery in Buffalo hospitals after receiving kidneys transplanted from a 13-year-old girl who was killed in a traffic accident Saturday.

A spokesman for the Kidney Bank and Research Society of Western New York said the operations were performed late Saturday after the parents of Kathleen Evans authorized the removal of the eighth-grader's kidneys. The spokesman said the recipients were in reasonably good condition. He said they had suffered from chronic nephritis, an infectious degenerative kidney disease, and had been kept alive with the aid of a kidney machine that periodically removed waste material from their bodies.

Kathleen was the second child of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Evans of Sanborn, about 10 miles east of Niagara Falls, to be killed in a traffic accident near their home. About 10 years ago, a son, Leon Edward, almost three years of age, was struck by an automobile on the same road where Kathleen was killed. The accident scenes were about one mile apart.

The parents said they authorized the transplants in memory of the two children who were killed. They have six others. "My wife and I felt that if we could save the lives of two others, it would ease the pain of the tragedies," the father said. Saturday's transplants brought the total to four in Buffalo hospitals in the last week, doctors said. At least 35 kidney transplants have been performed in the past four years and about 60 per cent have been successful, they said.

Kathleen, who attended Edward Town Junior High School in Sanborn, will be buried Wednesday.

LBJ Memoirs
Publication
In 18 Months

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lyndon B. Johnson's memoirs will be published in about 18 months by Holt, Rinehart and Winston Inc.

Alfred C. Edwards, chairman of Holt, Rinehart, and Harry H. Ransom, chancellor of the University of Texas and president of the Lyndon B. Johnson Public Affairs Foundation, said Sunday the first book was expected to cover highlights of Johnson's presidency.

Two other volumes covering the former president's political career are expected to follow, they said. Proceeds—expected to exceed a million and a half dollars—will go to the foundation, which will own the memoirs. There was no indication of the purchase price paid by the publishers.

Katz Replaces Ratz STONINGTON, Maine (AP)—The Rev. Saul E. Katz is the pastor of the Methodist church in this small island community. The Rev. Eugene Ratz, who came here from South Dakota, is now pastor for the Nazarene church.

During the week, the Rev. Mr. Ratz gives lessons to the part-time organist at the Rev. Mr. Katz' church. And when the Rev. Mr. Katz, who lives in Bangor, comes down to the island on weekends, he brings his colleague's mail to him.

Latest Sirhan Maneuver:
Claim Biased Indictment

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Defense and prosecution attorneys readied arguments today over a motion to throw out the indictment against Sirhan B. Sirhan for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

In its move to quash the indictment, the defense contended the grand jury which returned it did not include representatives of minorities and was therefore unconstitutional. The motion faced almost certain rejection by Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker when court reconvenes Wednesday.

Case Adjourned

Charged with leaving the scene of an accident, Burt R. Delavan, 17, of 13 DuBois Street, appeared in City Court today and received an adjournment until Feb. 1. According to police, the youth's car hit a fence in Hasbrouck Park, and Delavan drove away.

Kingston police issued summonses to Darlene M. Davis, 19, of P. O. Box 32, Eddyville, accusing her of driving the wrong way on a one-way street and driving without a license.

Bows to Power
Cut in Woodstock

WOODSTOCK — The bells tolled for Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company and Kingston Cablevision as Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom The Bell Tolls" was about to be broadcast Sunday night. The switchboards of both companies lit up with calls as irate viewers, about to settle back to the movie version of the classic story of the Spanish Civil War, were faced with blank screens.

A power failure on Central Hudson equipment in the area cut cablevision equipment about 7:15 p.m., 15 minutes before the movie was scheduled to begin on Channel 5.

A spokesman for Central Hudson said today that fewer than 50 homes were without electric power in the Woodstock area from 7:15 to about 8:30 p.m., but as many as 1,000 television sets were blank until 9:30 p.m. as power failure affected transmission equipment of Kingston Cablevision.

Viewers called immediately, the spokesman said, and crews were dispatched as the first calls came in. A representative at Cablevision said the break occurred during the "prime time" of broadcasts and affected reception in the entire township.

The company powers its transformers and amplifiers with Central Hudson electricity and also had crews in the area to assist in repairs. The electric failure was in the area of Meade Mountain Road and Dug Hill Road in the town, near the main street of the village.

Drive Launched

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A group of Negro ministers will launch a nationwide campaign Feb. 9 to raise $25,000 for Rep. Adam Clayton Powell — the amount the Harlem Democrat was fined by Congress. The Rev. Jefferson P. Rogers of Washington said the campaign would "inform all black people they must begin to fight for survival and political self-determination in every way open to them."

ELLENVILLE PRESIDENT—On April 5, 1856, the newly-named Village of Ellenville, through its trustees, named a 66-year old lawyer, Charles Hartshorn, to be its first president. Hartshorn, according to Town of Wawarsing Historian Katharine T. Terwilliger, had come to the area in 1823 when the village was known as Fairchild City. He went into partnership with Samuel Rockwell and their log cabin office was located on the southwest corner of Canal and Markey Street, the present site of Crown Jewelers. Hartshorn died in 1869 at the age of 79. Recently, his portrait was hung in the Ellenville Municipal Building. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Horticultural Society Meeting Set Here

Fruit growers from the Hudson Valley and New England area will gather in Kingston Tuesday to start the annual meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society. The conclave will run through Thursday and will feature a talk by former Congressman Dr. Walter Judd.

The fruit growers will also hear Richard Norton, agent in Monroe and Orleans Counties, give the yealds on different rootstocks in his sex-permental plantings. He has about 8,000 trees in his trial apple orchards, according to society secretary Thomas E. LaMont of Albion.

Norton also will report on three weeks at the experiment station in Europe last November. He is expected to tell what rootstocks they are using and how many trees they are planting per acre.

Spray materials, disease control in pears, storage and marketing will be discussed by Dr. D. V. Fisher of British Columbia, Canada. He will also give an illustrated talk on fruit growing in his home region.

Speakers from Cornell University include Professors Louis J. Edgerton, Daniel I. Padberg, Bennitt A. Domiaick Jr. and Robert M. Shock.

The manager of the New York State and New England Apple Institute, Rockwell Berry, will tell of programs to promote apple sales.

Dr. M. P. Catherwood, head of the state Labor Department will speak on possible labor legislation affecting fruit growers and will point out important points for growers to help shape the legislation.

Other topics to be covered include new materials to control Pear Psylla, the value and future of weekly storage reports for New York and New England, what federal crop insurance can do for apple growers, moving the coming larger apple crops at a profit and "Alar" the miracle material, what it can do and can not do.

Picking aids for harvesting apples and mechanical pruning the Kingston meeting presents information and tips to area fruit growers to keep them abreast of changing conditions, according to secretary LaMont.

Programs for the meeting and show are available at the County extension office.

Ulster County Savings Reelects St. John President

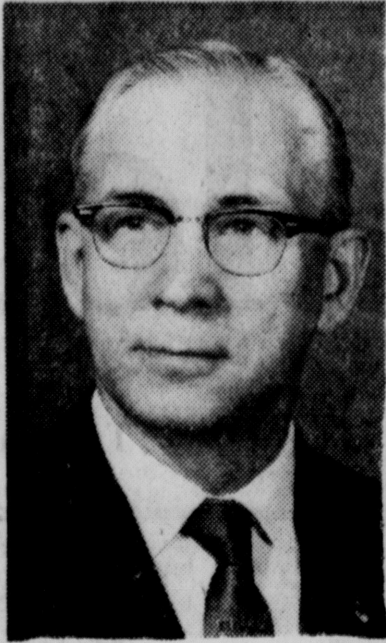

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN

Howard C. St. John was reelected President of the Ulster County Savings Bank at the Annual meeting of the Board of Trustees, held recently in the banking house at 280 Wall Street, Kingston.

At the meeting, Joseph A. Fassbender, Treasurer, was elected to the position of Vice-President and Treasurer.

Mrs. Colleen R. Crespin, Assistant Treasurer, was elected Assistant Vice-President, and Charles G. Rider, Mortgage Officer, was elected Assistant Vice-President and Mortgage Officer.

JOSEPH A. FASSBENDER

Fassbender, the new vice president and treasurer, is a native of Kingston and a product of the local school system. He is also a graduate of the Moran Business School.

In 1962, he was appointed as a commissioner of the Board of Public Works, a post he held until 1966.

From 1938 through 1943, Fassbender served as city accountant in the city's treasurer's office and prior to that was associated with A. R. Atkins, public accountant.

Colleen R. Crespin was born in Kingston, N. Y., July 1929, the daughter of Mrs. Myron Silkworth. She graduated from the Moran School of Business in May 1947.

Mrs. Crespin became associated with Ulster County Savings Bank in June 1947, as school savings clerk and teller, transferred to the bookkeeping department and mortgage department in 1954, and in 1955 was appointed supervisor in charge of the bookkeeping department. She was elected Assistant Treasurer by the Board of Trustees in 1963, graduated from Electronic Data Processing School in 1965, and became officer in charge of data processing in 1966, as programmer and consultant.

Mrs. Crespin supervised conversion of all bank records to computer system in 1965 and 1966.

She was elected to the position of Executive Officer in charge of Operations in July 1968. In 1968 she was listed in the fifth edition of "Who's Who of American Women" and is a member of the National Association of Bank Women.

Mrs. Crespin is the wife of John R. Crespin Jr., and they have one daughter, Joli, a senior at the John A. Coleman High School.

The newly elected assistant vice president and mortgage officer, Rider is director of the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

He is a graduate of Emma Wygant School and Kingston High School. He continued his studies at Xavier University and has attended a number of technical schools and completed several banking courses. As a member of the East Kingston Methodist Church, Rider serves as treasurer and lay leader and delegate to their annual conference.

Also reelected at the meeting were Alfred Schmid, Vice-President, Herbert E. Thomas, Vice-President, and George L. Berry, Assistant Vice-President. Victor H. Roth was elected Secretary, Roberta A. Riel, Assistant Treasurer and Assistant Secretary, Irving J. Kotrady, Auditor, Alton C. Blackwell, Assistant Mortgage Officer, and Howard C. St. John, Attorney.

Members of the Board of Trustees are Harry J. Beatty, Joseph J. Benjamin, Harold S. Brigham, Francis H. Delaney, Roscoe V. Ellsworth, Gilbert F. Hoppenstedt, Christus J. Larios, Robert B. O'Reilly, Victor H. Roth, Howard C. St. John, Alfred Schmid, Herman C. Schwenk, James A. Simpson, Herbert E. Thomas, and Francis X. Tucker.

In his annual "State of the Bank" message to the Board, President St. John commented on the very successful past year, during which the bank enjoyed a nearly five million dollar gain in assets. He expressed his appreciation of the employees' efforts in making possible this outstanding accomplishment.

St. John outlined plans to make 1969 an even greater year, noting the recent completion of an advanced computer system, and the soon-to-be-completed Drive-in TV teller window and parking lot on Fair Street. The president stated that these and other improvements would make "banking with US" even more convenient and desirable in 1969.

Driver Ed Assembly Held

WOODSTOCK—The driver education class of the Ontario Central High School met with Frank Carle, Olive Town Justice and Ulster County Sheriff Department deputies Ray Davis and Robert Grennie in a special assembly recently.

Students asked questions concerning driver regulations and laws as well as driver safety. Through the courtesy of Sheriff William Martin a special film, "Mechanized Death," was also shown. The film shows rather boldly the sad outcomes of foolish driving and poor self-control behind the wheel.

Programs of this nature have been conducted over the past few years in cooperation with the local and state law enforcement agencies. Roderick Patrick, driver education teacher made the arrangements.

FACELIFT — These Canal Street landmarks in Ellenville are slated for Urban Renewal demolition in this Wawarsing population center. Owners of the Busy Bee Bar and Grill have indicated they want to move to the corner of Water and Canal Streets. The building next to the bar, boarded up for some 10 years, was once a general store and a hub of local activity. Nate's Barber Shop and Martha's Beauty Salon will also be moving, to new quarters on Clinton Avenue. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Aux. Police Meet Tonight

An important meeting of the Kingston-Ulster County CD Auxiliary Police will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Moose Lodge, 82 Prince Street. Men, 18 or over are invited to attend these meetings. A full attendance of members is anticipated.

MRS. COLLEEN CRESPIN

Rondout Reelects Dwyer

JAMES A. DWYER

James A. Dwyer was reelected president and Irving L. Eyles, vice-president of the Rondout National Bank at the 104th annual meeting held recently.

Eyles reported that earnings were higher than they have ever been in the history of the bank and said the outlook for 1969 was very favorable.

Following the meeting, shareholders were invited to a luncheon at Leherb's Restaurant.

Also reelected for 1969 were Joseph J. Rua, vice-president-cashier; John F. Wrinn, vice-president and Kenneth Osterhoudt, assistant cashier.

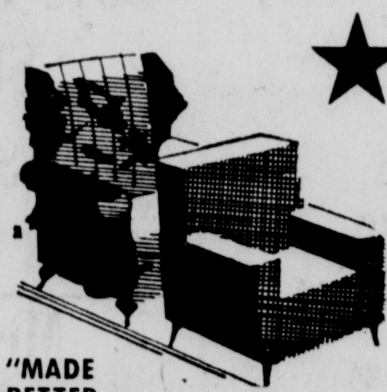

The Board of Directors also were reelected as follows: Joseph A. Dwyer, William J. Dwyer, William F. Edelmuth, Irving L. Eyles, Dr. Milton Grover, John L. Larkin, Richard L. Treat, Adrian Kaplan, Lawrence A. Quilty and George W. Schneider.

Father Warden Dies
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Rev. Joseph Warden, former editor of the newspaper for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Albany, died Saturday after a brief illness. He was 53.

Father Warden, most recently rector of Our Lady of the Assumption Church here, was assistant editor from 1946 to 1963 and then editor of The Evangelist to 1966.

He served as assistant pastor in the 1940s of Sacred Heart Church, Troy, and St. Columba Church, Schenectady.

220 Million Phones Await Area Calls

How would it sound if all the world's telephones rang at the same time?

No one will ever know, of course, because one half of them would be silent while calling the other half. But with more than 222 million phones around the Earth there would be quite a tinnabulation.

Telephone customers in the Kingston area now have more than 96 per cent of those phones at their fingertips, according to New York Telephone manager William J. Pearson.

This fact and many others are contained in the new edition of "The World's Telephones" booklet just released by the company.

Compiling global phone facts takes almost a year to complete. Thus figures in the booklet tell the international telephone story as it was on January 1, 1968.

One of the newest points to be linked to the international telephone network for connection to the U.S. is Australia's tiny Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean, according to an introductory section. The island has 186 phones.

International calling from the United States increased 23 per cent during 1967 to 12.3 million calls—five times the number of overseas calls made 10 years ago.

More than half of the world's phones are in North America, which in 1967 became the first continent to have one telephone for every two people.

When it comes to talking on the phone, Canadians are tops. They averaged 667.7 telephone conversations per person in 1967. People in the U.S. rank a close second with 667.

Thirty-three countries now have more than half a million phones. Newcomers to the list are Colombia and Yugoslavia. The United States, with almost 104 million, has five and a half times as many phones as second place Japan.

The booklet notes that the world's telephone network is growing rapidly. It took 78 years to attain the first 100 million phones, but more than that number have been added to the world's total in the last 10 years alone.

It was also announced that in 1969 the New York Telephone Company's construction program will be the largest in the history of the Bell system—$650 million. This is an increase of $150 million over 1968.

In 1968 the Company experienced its busiest year in two decades, with more than 400,000 phones added throughout the state.

"The size of this 1969 budget indicates," a company spokesman, said, "The surging demand for communications services."

Among major items in the $650 million program are new central office equipment, including electronic switching equipment, new buildings and building additions, additional transmission facilities, and just-plain telephones.

Ulster Sets Night Class Registration

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College will hold registration for evening courses this Tuesday and Wednesday night from 6 to 9 p.m. Counselors will be available in the day or evening at the campus to advise prospective students on the programs available, according to the director of continuing education.

At the same time, the director, John America, announced two courses that have been added to the program. One is Materials and Processes, a survey course in manufacturing, and the other is entitled "The Family," a sociology course designed to acquaint the student with marriage and the family life of Americans.

Materials and Processes will meet on Monday nights from 7 to 8:50 as a lecture starting Feb. 3. A laboratory session will be held on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9:40 starting Feb. 5.

"The Family" will be conducted on Monday nights starting Feb. 3 and will give a general cultural background concerning the family in American society. Prospective will be given, America said, by a comparison with other times and other cultures.

New Membership For Accord Man

ACCORD—Donald S. Rider of this community has been named a member of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, it was announced recently. Rider joins 44,750 individuals and firms in the national breeding organization.

His was among 860 new memberships recently approved by the breeders' board of directors meeting. Holstein breed activities are coordinated in New York through a state secretary and fieldman in Ithaca.

Man Ticketed After Mishap

TOWN OF ULSTER — Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury at 8 p. m. Friday when the cars collided on Route 28 in front of Howard Johnson Motor Lodge.

John Borgoy, 31, of Woodstock, was cited by Kingston state police for failure to yield the right of way. He was driving from a private driveway to make a left turn on Route 28, when his car was in collision with an eastbound vehicle operated by Victor Fairbairn, 32, of West Hurley, troopers said.

Keller and Aimoni Winners in Ski Jumps

Top Hill Mark

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

ROSENDALE—European Olympic veterans, as expected, completely dominated the Rosendale Outing Club's two-day International Ski Jumping Tournament here Saturday and Sunday.

West Germany's Franz Keller, the 1968 Olympic Gold Medal winner in the Combined Nordic, set a new Mt. Joppenbergh hill record of 212 feet, as he led Saturday's Class A competition with 216.9 points.

Giacomo Aimoni, three-time Italian national champion and two-time Olympian, captured the Sunday Class A event with 214.0 points on flights of 210 and 208 feet.

Keller cracked Don Colby's old Joppenbergh record of 208 feet on his second jump Saturday after opening with a leap of 204 feet. He picked up 48.5 form points on his first jump and a whopping 51.5 points on the record breaker.

Ludvik Zajc, who placed 9th in the 1968 Olympics for Yugoslavia, took second place Saturday with 208.0 points on leaps of 200 and 203 feet. Aimoni could do no better than 198 feet on his first try and 204 the second time around to accumulate 202.5 points and third place.

The top American competitor in the field—Dana Zelenakis of Canaan College, Conn. was fourth with 188.1 points followed by Roger Dion, former Salisbury, Conn. jumper, who now represents Canada with 179.2 points.

Nearly 3,000 spectators witnessed the two-day tournament, with Sunday's estimated turnout of 2,000 setting a record for the four-year classic.

Over the Hump

Sunday's banner tournament and the fine all-round quality of competition drew an accolade from John Bower, the U.S. Olympic jumping coach from Salisbury, Conn.

"This tournament put Rosendale over the top," said Bower, one of the most influential figures in the ski jumping business.

Bower's sentiments were echoed by William F. Curran, tournament director and other Rosendale Outing Club officials who see their project off the ground, so to speak, after four years of struggling.

A major spill marred Sunday's event when Dana Zelenakis, the crack Dartmouth Outing Club jumper, suffered a bad spill and was knocked unconscious in the special Long Distance Jump. He was taken to

Dutch Wrestlers

Second Win 32-5

Old Dutch Church Wrestling team won their second straight decision by trouncing Ulster All Stars 32-5. Old Dutch won the first six matches on three pins and three decisions for a 24-0 lead.

The two quickest matches were when Tom Higgins pinned Ross Adair in 19 seconds and Russell McLean pinned Bob Higgins 56 seconds.

Old Dutch Church

Lakers Win 59-52

Lakers won their second straight as they rallied from a 13-0 deficit to win over Knicks 59-52 in Old Dutch Intramural basketball Friday night.

Mike Curran led winners with 22 points and Tom Jensen took game honors with 32 points.

WINNER ON THE WING — Giacomo Aimoni, the three-time Italian National ski jumping champion, has just sailed past the judges on Mt. Joppenbergh Hill on his first jump of 210 feet in Sunday's half of the Rosendale International Ski Jumps. Aimoni added a 208-footer and won the event with 214.0 points. Franz Keller of West Germany, Saturday's winner was runnerup to Aimoni. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Zelenakis' Fears Were Justified

ROSENDALE — Sunday proved to be a fateful day for Dana Zelenakis, the classy young Canaan College star, who was the only real American threat against the high powered European trio of Franz Keller, Giacomo Aimoni and Ludvik Zajc in the International Ski Jumps.

On his trial jump, he soared to 208 feet but lost control at the base of the slope and took a header, skidding face first for nearly 100 feet on the outrun.

He survived that spill amid applause from the spectators and after being assured that he had suffered no facial injury went into the regular competition. His first official jump of 209 feet and 46.5 judges put him in contention but he fell to 205 with a poor form effort, as he again nearly lost control and the judges downgraded him to 40.0 out of a possible 60.0 points.

Zelenakis still qualified for the Long Distance Trophy Jump restricted to the six longest flights of the day. This time his luck really turned sour. He got off the top jump of 210 feet but shortly after his skis touched ground he was in trouble. He took another, more severe header on the outrun this time skidding nearly 150 on the right side of his face. He was knocked unconscious and was bleeding profusely when taken to Kingston Hospital by ambulance.

This time his dread aversion to facial cuts had become a reality. The facial injuries and contusions were not serious, but they were there.

Two hours after the spill, Zelenakis was pleading with hospital authorities to release him. But he was held overnight as a precautionary measure.

Despite considerable confusion on the status of Saturday's event, which had been "canceled" Friday, a crowd of around 1,000 witnessed the competition under clear skies and 37-degree temperature.

Friday's cancellation was overruled when it stopped raining late in the day and 20 truckloads of snow were carted in by the trucking firms of Bill Buchanan of High Falls and Van Kleeck and Sons of New Paltz.

The outrun was pumped out Friday night and packed with snow but remained extremely tricky for the two days of the event. The jumping hill also was packed with artificial snow.

The combination of snow and ice created extremely fast conditions on the jumping slope and tournament officials halted Saturday's competition and reduced the inrun by three feet to lower speeds and reduce the possibility of accidents.

Before that happened there were a couple of nasty spills involving Art Tokle Jr., and Doug Dion, brother of Roger Dion. Doug was knocked out of the tournament and there were several other minors.

In short, the outrun conditions were never quite what the Rosendale Outing Club officials desired.

Keller's record breaking flight Saturday was remarkable under the conditions, considering he was taking off three feet closer than normal to the launching pad.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN

Montgomery Trips Exhausted UCCC

ROCKVILLE, Md.—A total of 34 fouls, five of them technical violations, spelled doom for the Ulster County Community College cagers here Saturday night as Montgomery Junior College picked up all the marbles, 93-79.

Montgomery had breezed to a 104-67 rout of Sullivan County Community College Friday night, while Ulster was taking a hard-fought 96-88 decision from Baltimore Junior College, and the difference in pace told the story early as Montgomery opened a seemingly insurmountable 50-28 lead by the end of the first half.

The margin was increased to 26 points early in the second half before Coach Mike Perry called for the zone press and the Senators began to work wonders.

Sparked by the hot hand of Jerry Moss, whose 36 point total was tops in the contest, Ulster tied the score at 66 with a basket by Gary Kirkwood a little before the minute mark. Then the roof began to fall in.

The physically exhausted Senators (four games in a week, the last three in a four day span) had tied the score at a tremendous cost in personal fouls and when Ray Lindhorst drew his fifth with 10:56 left to play in the game it was the beginning of the end.

"The game was quite sloppy from that point," Perry said. "Ed Torroni missed the first shot in a one and one foul situation that could have put Ulster ahead and Mike Lynch came back with a jumper and Jim Mundy scored on a tap play to put Montgomery ahead 72-68."

This entire sequence used up about six minutes of playing time, Perry added. At this point (4:56) Larry Trippodo was called for his fourth personal, and when the referee added a technical Perry replaced him with Charlie Moore. The official scorer nabbed Moore for allegedly failing to report (technical foul) and when Perry argued the point he was not only burned for another "T" but ejected from the game.

Assistant Coach Bill DuBois took over, but could do little more than watch as first Kirkwood and then Tony Pough were sent to the bench with foul number five and the game slipped out of reach.

Montgomery, which used only five players the entire contest, outscored Ulster 21-11 over the last five minutes paced by Lynch's eight for eight performance at the foul line. Tom Davis led Montgomery with 24 points, and Lynch and Mundy added 22 apiece.

Ulster, now 12-3 on the season, travel to Waterbury, Conn. Saturday for a game against Region XV offensive leaders Post Jr. College. Post averaging 107 points per game, has lost only one this year 98-90 to second-ranked Nassau. The Senators are currently ranked third in Region XV, behind New York City Community College and Nassau, while Post is rated fifth.

Montgomery has been defeated only once this season, 67-64 at Baltimore.

Big Wilt Scores 60 for L.A.

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Lakers now are passing the ball to Wilt Chamberlain instead of passing the buck.

Los Angeles, ridden by dissension stemming from a failure to communicate between coach and players, blossomed into a close-knit unit Sunday as Chamberlain scored 60 points in beating the Cincinnati Royals 126-113. Chamberlain has been criticized for not going to the basket often enough.

Chamberlain's total, 40 short of his league record, is tops in the National Basketball Association this season. It was achieved on 22 of 36 foul attempts and a remarkable (for him) 16 of 24 foul shots.

Atlanta fell 1-2 games back of Los Angeles in the Western Division as the Hawks dropped a 119-115 decision to Philadelphia. Boston bowled over Baltimore 124-86, San Francisco stunned Phoenix 117-95 and San Diego ripped Chicago 111-95 in other NBA action. Chamberlain yanked down 21 rebounds and he suddenly/fistful of assists. The 7-1 center turned shooter instead of feeder was the deciding factor in the and his teammates rolled up a victory after Cincinnati closed the bucket.

Dale Douglass Leads Crosby

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Dale Douglass went out with the birds Sunday and while he didn't bag many along the way, he still managed a two-under-par 70 at Pebble Beach to take the third round lead in the $150,000, Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament with a 54-hole score of six-under-par 210.

Douglass, who enjoyed his best year on the tour in 1968 when he won $57,444, had only two birds on his card—on the par four first hole and the par five sixth. However, he never missed a step the rest of the way, going out in 34 and coming home in 36.

His 210 total, with one round to go in chase of the top prize of $25,000, gave him a stroke edge on Howie Johnson, who shot a one-under-par 71 at Cypress Point, and a two-stroke edge on George Archer, who had an even par 72 at Spyglass Hill despite a double bogey six on the 17th and a triple bogey seven on the 18th.

Douglass, Johnson and Archer started the day tied for the lead at 140.

to 56-54 at halftime. His 19 Phoenix. Nate Thurmond led points in the final period the way with 25 points. Neil provided the crusher. Connie Johnson, a sub, paced the Suns Dierking led Cincinnati with 32 with 22

Philadelphia moved within a half-game of first place Baltimore in the East with some last second daring-do. Chet Walker's rebound bucket with 12 seconds left and Hal Greer's two free throws with two seconds remaining downed Atlanta. Greer had 31 points and Walker netted 29. Zelmo Beaty of Atlanta matched Greer for game point honors.

An untimely injury to Earl Monroe in the first quarter handicapped Baltimore in the game with Boston. He scored only two points while hobbling on a bad ankle in five minutes of action. Don Nelson's 15 points in the third quarter enabled the Celtics to break away from a 52-47 halftime lead. Sam Jones topped Boston's scoring with 28 points and Kevin Loughery netted 19 for the Bullets.

San Francisco went on a 25-7 tear early in the third period to wrap up its victory over

The Montreal Canadiens were hit from two sides Sunday. The result was that the Canadiens fell seven points behind the Eastern Division leading Boston Bruins, who are on a 14-game unbeaten streak.

The Bruins edged Minnesota 4-3 to stretch the club's longest unbeaten streak in 28 years and gained two points on Montreal in the standings when the Canadiens were beaten by New York 3-2 in a nationally televised game.

General manager Emile Francis, filling in for ailing coach Boom Boom Geoffrion, guided the Rangers to their third straight victory and credited the Ranger "hits" against Montreal for the victory.

"A hit is physical contact when you take a guy out anywhere on the ice," Francis says. "The opposing players can't score when they're on the ice."

Francis has the Rangers keeping track of "hits" and the club recorded 39 of them Saturday against Chicago and 43 against Montreal Sunday.

"If you get 40 hits a game, you'll win most of them," Francis claims. The Rangers' muscle game was aided by a pair of third period goals by Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield, who scored the Rangers' first goal in the second period when Montreal was leading 2-0. Hadfield's second goal at 8:36 of the final period snapped a 2-2 tie.

The Ratelle and Hadfield goals came when Jean Beliveau was serving a five-minute major penalty for spearing Phil Goyette.

"It was a great comeback," Francis said, "even when we fell behind, we knew two goals wouldn't beat us. We didn't panic."

In the other games, Detroit edged Toronto 3-2, Chicago routed Los Angeles 9-3, St. Louis topped Oakland 3-1 and Philadelphia rallied to beat Pittsburgh 5-3.

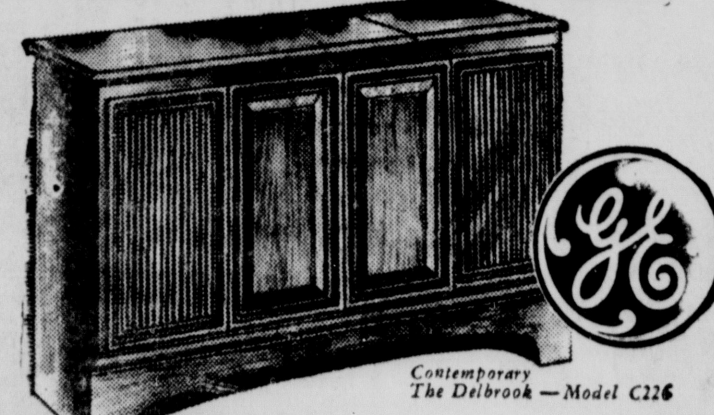

Minnesota gave Boston a struggle before a three-goal second period burst capped by John McKenzie's 16th goal put the Bruins in charge.

Bob Seagren celebrated the anniversary of his world pole vault mark Saturday by shattering it—while a pair of awesome Aussies did some record-breaking of their own as the indoor track season bloomed on six fronts last weekend.

Seagren, the U.S. Olympic champion, soared to his indoor mark of 17-5 1/2 in the Albuquerque Invitational and Australian Ralph Doubell, another Olympic Gold Medal winner, broke the 880-yard standard in the same meet. The other Aussie, Ron Clarke, smashed the three-mile run record at the Athens Invitational in Oakland Friday night.

And at Houston's Astrodome, six world's best marks were eclipsed at the Federation National Championships.

The Astrodome records, run on a five laps to the mile track, however, are not recognized as records by the Amateur Athletic Union. The AAU requires that a track be at least eight laps around.

The Federation marks were set by Lenox Miller, Southern Cal, 9.4 in the 10-yard dash; total.

EMPLOYMENT

ATTENTION JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted ads from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than the legal minimum wage or fail to pay at least time and one-half for overtime hours.
The minimum wage for employment covered by the FLSA prior to the 1966 Amendments is $1.60 an hour with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. Jobs covered as a result of the 1966 Amendments require $1.15 an hour with minimum overtime pay required after 42 hours a week. For specific information contact the Wage and Hour
Office of the U.S. Department of Labor 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N.Y.

ployers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination

Dear Abby

Pornography in Mails

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Today I received a third class letter addressed to my "husband" and myself. (My husband has been dead for 12 years.) There was no return address on the envelope, but it was post-marked "Los Angeles."

Upon opening it I found an invitation to send for a book on sex relations for $10. There were also drawings of "things to use"—about 10 items ranging from $10 to $75 each.

From whom did these sellers of pornography get my name? I thought there was a law against sending this kind of stuff thru the mails.

I know I can just throw junk like this in the waste paper basket, but people who peddle such stuff should be put out of business.

What do you advise?

TWIN CITIAN

DEAR ABBY: Our 16-year-old son recently received in the mails a catalog listing some "stag films" at $35 each. Some of the titles were "Hubby Returns from out of Town Unexpectedly," "A Wedding Night Thru the Keyhole," "Love Making Techniques in 30 Different Countries," and "Boys with Boys and Girls with Girls." Do I have to say anything further?

Abby, our son is a decent, clean-minded young man, who is active in the youth group at our church. He brought this catalog to his father saying he had no idea why it was sent to him.

Now, YOU tell ME. What are parents supposed to do about a situation like this?

UPSET IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR ABBY: What on earth is going on? I do believe there is a Communist plot afoot to destroy our great nation from the inside by corrupting our young people with filth and rotten literature.

The most obscene bunch of paperback books I've ever in my life seen came in the mail today. The pictures and subject matter are so terrible I can't even tell you about it.

I don't want these dirt books around my house and I don't see why I should spend my good money sending them back. A friend suggested that I return them postage due to teach the senders a lesson. What do you think I should do?

IRRITATED IN LOUISVILLE

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about objectionable material received in the mail? I refer to advertisements for books, magazines, pornographic pictures and even "contraptions" to make "sex in marriage more fun."

I was told to take this stuff to the postoffice and give it to my postmaster. So that's what I did. He told me all he could do is return it to the sender and request that my name be taken off their mailing list. Why should I be put to the trouble of going to the postoffice with this trash?

DISGUSTED IN DAYTON, OHIO

DEAR UPSET, IRRITATED & DISGUSTED: I am informed that unsolicited advertisements or material in the mails which the recipient regards as "erotically arousing or sexually provocative," should be returned to HIS (the recipient's) postmaster with instructions to be removed from that mailing list. If there are children under 19 living at home, their names may be listed to prevent them from receiving such mail or material.

No one is responsible for the return of mail or material sent to him unsolicited. Nor should he be inconvenienced by GOING personally to the postoffice. South knew that the grand slam would only be a cinch if his partner held the king of diamonds as his one king but South was willing to bet that his partner would not have jumped to three diamonds on a suit headed by ace-10 only.

Jim: "Even then the slam would be on a finesse, so at the worst South would have an even money chance. I note that he also bid the slam in no-trump."

Oswald: "Of course, he bid it in no-trump. He could be sure that this particular hand would play perfectly in no-trump and that there would be no danger of a ruff the first trick when there were no trumps around to ruff with."

Oswald: "We have mentioned on many occasions that the chief use for the Blackwood convention is to keep out of bad slams."

Jim: "There is no reason why we shouldn't discuss that some more. The correct time to use Blackwood is when you intend to bid a slam provided your opponents can't cash enough aces off the top to beat you before you get started."

Oswald: "The second use for Blackwood is to decide about seven once you are committed to six. Here is a hard from a rubber bridge game at the Cavendish Club in New York that illustrates both points."

Jim: "The moment that North found a jump rebid in diamonds South knew that he was going to a small slam if his partner would show up with two aces. True, there was some chance that North could hold two losing hearts and that a slam might be beaten but South was going to take that chance."

Oswald: "When North showed three aces South was ready for the second part of Blackwood. He bid five no trump to ask for kings."

Jim: "I see that South went right to seven no-trump when his partner showed one king."

Oswald: "That shows an

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ELEVATOR LOVE: (Q) Is it all right to make out in an elevator during working hours? This was the idea of a guy I work with. At first I didn't go along with him, but finally I agreed to cooperate. After we finished he said he was very happy.

He's 19 and I'm 17. He's never called me on the phone or asked me for a date, so I'm planning to ask him to a banquet. Do you think this would be wrong? Do you think what we did in the elevator was wrong?—A Reader in San Antonio, Texas.

(A.) You've let him nibble at the goodies free and now you want to spread him a whole banquet on the same basis. Both are wrong. First, because a boy is likely to have little respect for a girl who is too eager and easy to get. Second, it's the boy's job to do the pursuing, and when he is able to take a short cut, as he did, or the girl does his work for him, as you want to do now, he puts a very low value on her.

Third, you were goofing off during working hours. Fourth, society says no to what you were doing; if someone had found you two all entwined inside the elevator you would have been fired. Fifth, you know you're on the wrong road or you wouldn't have asked three times for my opinion.

Start over again, the right way, with some other boy.

SAME NAME: (Q.) You and I have two things in common—the same name and the same interest, writing. I read your column faithfully and want to know how you got your start and what educational background you have.—Jean Adams in Newark, N. J.

(A.) I was born and reared near Dallas, Texas. I have a degree in business from the University of Texas and a degree in business and counseling with a guidance certificate from the University of Colorado. I have worked with teenagers as a leader or counselor since I started to college.

Jean Adams is my real name.

Mel Torme Writing TV Scripts

By VERNON SCOTT
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mel Torme, in an effort to lose his reputation as a singer, has taken to writing television and movie scripts that just happen to have roles in them that fit an actor named Mel Torme.

It's not that Torme's voice has cracked. People just aren't tearing down music stores to buy his records.

Mel has turned to acting but producers and other intellectuals continue to think of him as a singer.

Tunnel vision. That's what Torme is fighting.

Actors Confined
 "There is an element in Hollywood that puts everyone in pigeon holes," Torme said. "They aren't aware that performers don't limit themselves to a single category."

He mentioned Peter Ustinov, Jose Ferrer, Steve Allen, Jerry Lewis and Orson Welles as examples of multifaceted talents.

To prove to the world that he was more than a crooner, Mel wrote episodes for "The Virginian" and "Run for Your Life" television series. He played top parts in both.

Payment for the scripts did not make Torme independently wealthy.

But he did get his face on the screen in dramatic roles, proving he hoped, that he could act as well as warble. How many producers were glued to their video sets fascinated by the transformation is not known.

Evidently not many.

Returns to Writing
 Mel has gone back to the typewriter. He has completed two stories: "The Little Guy" and "The Glory Hunters."

Guess who would star in "The Little Guy"? Well, put it this way, Mel is about 5-feet-7.

Torme hopes to sell both properties as movies-for-television and then have them spin off as series. Such an eventually would insure him employment for a long time—as an actor.

"Once the producers recognize the fact a performer can do more than one thing, you have to start thinking about public reaction," Mel said.

"If it's necessary for actors to write their own roles, then break in "The Hollywood more of them should do it, "Palace"—for which he didn't Torme concluded during a write the script.

Baghdad Executes Fifteen Iraqis

By FAROUK NASSAR
DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Fifteen Iraqis convicted of spying for Israel were hanged in the main squares of Baghdad and Basra at dawn today, Baghdad Radio announced. Nine were Jews.

Baghdad Radio said 200,000 people, shouting "Death to all traitors" took to the streets in Baghdad as soon as the executions were announced and converged on Liberation Square. Eleven of the bodies were hanging there, each wrapped with a poster bearing the text of his death sentence.

Four others were hanged in Basra, the southern port city.

They were convicted nearly two weeks ago by a four-man court. Their death sentences were approved Sunday night by President Ahmed Hassan El Bakr.

The sentences were handed down by a four-man court Jan. 14-15 after a two-week secret trial, Baghdad Radio said. The broadcast did not say whether any of the executions had been performed. It broadcast six hours of tape recordings it said were made during the secret trial. The recordings indicated the accused were convicted of spying in Basra, Iraq's southern port, since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The broadcast said they sent reports about Iraqi armament to Israel with a wireless transmitter concealed in a Christian church in Basra, by ships docking at Basra and through the U.S. consulate in Ibadan, Iran.

The broadcast said the spy ring received instructions from Israel by way of secret agents in Holland. It said the ring was uncovered two months ago when foreign ships docked in Basra intercepted a signal sent by the church transmitter.

Baghdad Radio said testimony revealed the spies mostly sent information about Iraq's air force and various types of Soviet rockets used by the Iraqi army. It added the spy ring also trained a sabotage and assassination group in Ibadan which dynamited a road bridge in Basra last year.

Czech Police and Students Clash Over Palach Case

PRAGUE (AP) — Police battled young Czechs trying to memorialize Jan Palach during the night in Wenceslas Square and arrested three of them early today.

As one of the youths was clubbed, the crowd surged around the police, shouting, "Russian stooges!" and, "Ge-stapo!"

"We are just following orders," one young policeman explained.

"Your duty is to be humane," a student countered.

The students were protesting removal by the police of candles, flowers and signs placed against the statue of St. Wenceslas in tribute to Palach, the 21-year-old student who burned himself to death to protest the Soviet occupation. He was buried Saturday.

Earlier Sunday, about 100 police used tear gas to break up a crowd of 2,000 that had gathered near the statue in Prague's main square.

One student who produced a portrait of Palach from under his coat was grabbed and escorted away. Other students tried to divert police attention while their companions dashed up to place candles on the statue.

In Italy, where there have been three days of anti-Soviet demonstrations to express support for Czechoslovakia and to honor Palach, Pope Paul VI spoke of the self-immolation.

"We cannot approve of the tragic form of this testimony, but we can treasure its value," the pontiff said at his weekly appearance in St. Peter's Square. He said the burnings were "tragic episodes... which carry to a supreme degree self sacrifice and love for others."

Czechoslovak signs, and one student was cut on the forehead in a scuffle.

One sign read: "Pope Paul VI, please pray for the Czech martyrs and for Czech liberty."

Another said: "Christ is being crucified in Prague."

A Jaundiced Look

Screen Rocky's 'New Jobs'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The legislature's professional budget-cutters are going to take a jaundiced look at those 4,708 new state jobs that Gov. Rockefeller recommended in his "austerity" budget.

"That's the sort of area where we can do some really close and critical study," said Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. in discussing possible budget economies Sunday.

The legislature's other ranking Republican, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, was inclined to agree, although he tempered his approach a bit.

"I have a predisposition against adding jobs," said Brydges. "But we have to be reasonable — for example, if we're expanding the State University, we have to staff it. In other areas, we may have greater options."

Brydges and Duryea commented in separate interviews as staff fiscal experts waded into the telephone-book-sized, $6.4-billion spending plan that Rockefeller sent to the lawmakers last week. He called it "an austerity budget."

The document was turned over immediately to the Senate Finance Committee and Assembly Ways and Means Committee, where professional budget-trimmers promptly bent to their task.

Their Mission

Their mission is to come up with enough economies to forestall the state-aid slowdown that Rockefeller recommended as part of a general five percent cutback from the higher spending levels of the new fiscal year.

While the fiscal men labored, rank-and-file lawmakers headed back to the Capitol to begin their third working week of the 1969, with Monday afternoon meetings of the Senate and Assembly.

There were no major bills on their calendars, but Brydges and Duryea planned to keep the houses in session through Wednesday anyhow — so that other committees would pursue their deliberations.

The detailed "line-item" version of the budget that Rockefeller submitted proposed, among other things, to add 4,708 jobs to the state's present 154,000-member work force at a cost of about $30 million a year.

That $30 million figure looked tempting to Duryea and other economy-minded lawmakers who privately have expressed reservations about the constant growth of the state's payroll.

Rockefeller fiscal aides said the new jobs generally were required by developing programs to which the state already was committed — such as expansion of the State University and the unfolding effort to rehabilitate drug addicts.

The budget recommended 1,522 more jobs for the university and 399 more for the agency handling the drug-addiction program.

1,293 More

It also included 1,293 more employees for the Mental Hygiene Department, which runs the state mental institutions, 346 for the Transportation Department and 179 for the State Police Division, among them 111 new troopers for highway patrol work.

Over the weekend, the legislature's fiscal committees scheduled the annual budget hearings for Feb. 12-13 at Albany. That's when the taxpayers and interested groups are invited to tell the lawmakers what they think of the governor's plan.
